Santa Claus ... A Slick Huckster

CHICAGO (UPI) — Santa Claus, the kindly old dispenser of Christmas cheer, is really a slick huckster who has taught greed, not love, to millions of children, it was charged today. "Let's leave Santa at the North Pole" writes Catholic layman John Mahoney in the December issue of U.S. Catholic.

"How often do you see a Santa who is not serving as an outright huckster?" Mahoney asked in the Sounding Board section of the Clarethian Fathers monthly magazine.

"Whereas the true lesson of Christmas is a message of divine mercy and sacrifice, Santa is the front man for greedy corporations and the tutor in greed for millions of American children. He is the saint of Gimme ...

"A couple of generations back Santa was a relatively innocent imposter, but today he has become a total sellout to materialism and greed. He is in the pay of the big toy manufacturers and department stores."

Mahoney said he was once shattered when told there was no Santa Claus and vowed his children would not have to suffer such a blow. Later, he said, he found better reasons "for puncturing this overinflated figure."

"Young children, whose unformulated motto in life is 'what's in it for me?', can scarcely overlook that, according to the information they have received, it is the Jolly Old Elf rather than the Babe who delivers the tangible goods."

Mahoney maintains the "Santa myth" means unhappy children.

"A greedy child is never appeased. A spoiled child appreciates nothing. An overindulged child is convinced that the major figure of Christmas is not Christ, but himself."

He noted that a quarter century ago a movement to "put Christ back in Christmas" failed because "we failed to take Santa Claus out of Christmas."

The magazine cautioned a prepublication survey showed 57 per cent of readers checked disagreed with Mahoney that Santa teaches children to be greedy.

A total of 60 per cent felt Santa should be retained as a myth and 80 per cent said they did not believe they had suffered any harm from believing in Santa Claus.

Commented Mrs. Donald Wenger, a reader from Birmingham, Mich., "Let's not blame childish greed on a lovely, mythical old man who labors year round to make others happy. The average adult is the 'saint of Gimme' and our children are astute learners."

Yule Headache: Shoplifting

By WADE BURKHART

KINGSTON

The main Christmas shopping season is almost here—for some it has already started—and while merchants are thankful for the business it also means an additional major headache: shoplifting.

Not that shoplifting is only a seasonal problem. Shoplifters couldn't rip off $3.6 billion a year, which amounts to $10 million a day, without making it an all-year event.

The Kingston Uptown Businessmen's Association (KUBA) and the Small Business Administration (SBA), on behalf of the newly formed Ulster County Council of Retail Merchants and with the cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County, assembled a panel of experts on crime against business Tuesday night, for a seminar in the Governor Clinton Hotel. It dealt with both shoplifting and employee pilferage.

Jerome Berman, representing the SBA, told about 60 people attending the seminar, "They (shoplifters) are taking money off the bottom line (profit)."

It was Berman who supplied the figures on shoplifters' dubious achievements. He also said "ordinary" crimes against business cause a $16 billion a year loss—$1.87 million an hour.

Joseph Feraca, Kingston City Police sergeant and head of the security division at Sears in Kingston, underscored the all-year nature of the problem.

"It's an all-year problem," he said, "not just December or the holiday season."

Feraca said one out of every 10 people entering a store is a shoplifter.

He emphasized prosecution of shoplifters. He said Sears prosecuted every one they caught.

The procedure he recommended was for the person seeing the shoplifting occur to follow the shoplifter out of the store, watching them constantly to see that they did not pay for the item or discard it, and, with a witness, confront the shoplifter outside the store. He recommended that the shoplifter then be taken back inside the store, the merchandise recovered, and statements taken while the police were being summoned.

Leandra Bjaelker, also of Sears security, said dishonest employees were even more of a problem than shoplifters. "I can be at one end of the store, she said, "and they can be robbing me blind at the other."

She recommended being careful when employees' friends come to make purchases—the purchases sometimes become unauthorized discounts or even gifts—and making sure that employee purchases go in bags that remain sealed. She also said to be sure that everytime a register was opened, something was rung up.

Peggy Carriulo, a professor at Ulster County Community College, spoke of the new course of study she has set up there, which will provide an associate degree in criminal justice with a concentration in security administration. The course of study, of about 60 credits, is to begin in September of 1975, she said.

PRESIDENT AND JAPANESE OFFICIALS ... THE TOASTS GO ON

Ford, Tanaka Pledge Closer Ties

MOUNT FUJI BACKDROP FOR FORD
(UPI)

TOKYO (UPI) — Amid predictions the ruling Japanese government might fall within the week, President Ford agreed today with Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka on the need to halt the spread of nuclear weapons and pledged closer ties between the two countries.

Ford wound up his hectic second full day in Tokyo at a banquet for Emperor Hirohito with a toast to "the government of Japan and millions and millions of Japanese."

Borrowing the words of the first Japanese envoy to the United States, Ford told Hirohito the most important lesson he had learned in his "memorable" trip to Japan was "the time has come when no nation may remain isolated and refuse to take part in the affairs of the rest of the world."

Ford began his day with a second round of talks with Tanaka, then addressed a luncheon at the Japan Press Club, watched a demonstration of martial arts and attended three cocktail parties prior to the banquet. One party was for leaders of the American community in Japan.

Tanaka and Ford issued a joint communique agreeing on the need to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons—a clear effort to appease Japanese sensitivities over recent reports that U.S. warships bearing atomic weapons have stopped in Japanese ports.

The communique also appeared to signal Japan's willingness, after initial opposition, to accept a Ford administration proposal for all oil consuming nations to cut their petroleum imports by 10 per cent.

But the agreements were shadowed by predictions from within Tanaka's own ruling Liberal Democratic party that the prime minister might be forced to resign under fire very shortly after he bids Ford a final farewell Saturday.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said Ford's official discussions in Tokyo had "achieved the optimum of what he could have hoped for."

A power struggle has been under way for Tanaka's removal from office since a Japanese magazine published a lengthy accusation in October that Tanaka had used various cabinet jobs to enrich himself, largely through land deals.

Tanaka, a 56-year-old millionaire in the construction business, has acknowledged he made money but denies he did anything wrong. The accusations triggered the worst crisis in Tanaka's 28-year career as a conservative political figure.

"Calls for his resignation will intensify after President Ford leaves Japan Friday," one source said. "His rivals within the LDP and in the opposition parties will go all out to drive him out of office."

Brezhnev Going to Syria

By UPI

Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev will visit Syria following his summit meeting with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Cairo in mid-January, the official Soviet Tass news agency said today.

Arab sources in Moscow said visits to other Arab capitals may be added later.

The Tass announcement coincided with reports by western defense sources in London that the Soviet Union's latest shipments of advanced weapons to Syria have included about 150 medium-range ground-to-ground missiles capable of hitting Israel's major cities.

Such weapons, the sources told UPI diplomatic correspondent K.C. Thaler, have greatly increased Syria's offensive power.

The missiles were said to be both the Frog, with an approximately 40-mile range, and the Scud, a heavier warhead capable of hitting Tel Aviv from Syrian territory.

The experts estimated that further shipments now under way could boost the Damascus government's total missile strength to 200 of these rockets.

Egypt was said to have a small stock of these weapons but to lag behind Syria.

Arab commentators, meantime, said the guerrilla attack Tuesday on Beit Shean had escalated the risk of another war in the Middle East. They expressed fear Israel might try to capitalize on the situation by launching a massive attack on Palestinians in Lebanon and elsewhere and seek to scuttle growing international support for the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The Night Explodes in Grenades and Gunfire. A vivid account on Page 40.

Israel declared a "war of terror" to rid the Middle East of Arab guerrillas following the attack on Beit Shean in which five Israelis, including two women, and three guerrillas were killed.

The Saudi Arabian Riyadh Radio said King Faisal met today with PLO leader Yasser Arafat to discuss the present Arab situation and various matters related to the Palestinian problem.

Arafat flew to Riyadh late Tuesday from Cairo where he held talks with Sadat.

In Amman, the Jordanian weekly newspaper Al Liwa today attacked Arafat for a PLO statement laying claim to the kingdom of Jordan.

In Damascus, the Popular Democratic Front for the Liberation of Palestine took responsibility for the Beit Shean raid and vowed to "strike at the enemy until the liberation of our land from Zionist occupation."

Tax Relief For 38 Million

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tax relief for more than 38 million Americans and an immediate end to the granddaddy of all tax loopholes, the oil depletion allowance, was approved Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Action on a chopped-down tax bill came during a sometimes dramatic session in which a soft-spoken Tennessee Republican, Rep. John J. Duncan, broke ranks with his GOP colleagues to cast the deciding margin in the 13-12 vote to end the depletion allowance.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D Ark., said he hoped to get the bill to the floor Dec. 4 or 5, but even if it passes the House, an almost certain filibuster by oilstate senators awaits it in the Senate.

If the bill should survive the House and the Senate in the few weeks remaining in this Congress, all taxpayers who use the standard deduction — an estimated 38.2 million — would get at least a small tax break.

For those with incomes of less than $15,000, the tax cut for the 1975 tax year would average about $55.

This would be accomplished by increasing the rate for the standard deduction from 15 per cent to 16 per cent of income, and raising the maximum allowable deduction from $2,000 to $2,300.

The minimum deduction, which the poor would get no matter what their income, would be increased from $1,300 to $1,600 joint returns.

Police Car Case Underway

KINGSTON The case of two Kingston City patrolmen injured in a two-car accident at the Broadway, Albany Avenue, Chandler Drive interchange in August 1971 while answering an emergency call, began in Ulster County Supreme Court Monday with each seeking damages from the two defendants, Hans M. Gremer and John Dodig Jr.

Police officers Ronald Natoli and Thomas Barringer were reportedly cruising south on Lucas Avenue Aug. 26, 1971, when they received a radio message from police headquarters to go immediately to O'Neil Street and Bruyn Avenue where a man with a gun was allegedly threatening to shoot his uncle.

Responding to the message, Natoli, who was driving the patrol car and Barringer, a passenger, immediately headed toward the scene.

It was on their way at the Albany Avenue-Col. Chandler Drive interchange maintained that an emergency car operated south on Chandler Drive by Gremer, and owned by Dodig was in collision with the police car.

Natoli reportedly suffered back injuries which required hospitalization on many occasions and which, his counsel George Beck, maintains now prevents him from pursuing his career as a police officer. It is alleged that Barringer suffered head and cervical injuries.

In his opening statement, Beck described the circumstances of the accident pointing to the fact that the police car siren and red light was in operation and that all other motorists pulled over as the Natoli vehicle passed seven traffic lights on the way to the scene of the emergency.

Counsel for the defendants agency does not give a policeman the right to disregard the safety of the people. He charged Natoli with being contributorily negligent.

Gremer and Dodig are being represented by the firm of Schleider and Owen.

Justice Richard Kuhn is presiding.

In a companion action, Dodig is also suing the City of Kingston to recover property damages to his vehicle.

$1 Million Suit Filed

KINGSTON

An Ellenville couple has filed a $1 million law suit in Ulster County Supreme Court against Arden Hill Hospital in Goshen alleging "negligent and carelessness in services."

Sheila Friedman of Country Club Arms, Ellenville, is seeking $500,000 claiming the hospital failed to make a proper diagnosis with regard to but not limited to development of an abscess on her shoulder.

She claims further that she was "rendered sick, sore, lame and disabled and suffered internal injuries, pain and mental anguish." Mrs. Friedman claims to have been compelled to seek medical care and attention, incur medical expenses and become permanently injured and disabled.

Also named as defendants in the suit are Dr. Robert Kamath and Dr. Guy Beau-boeuf.

Friedman also seeks $500,000 for being deprived of the services, society and consortium of his wife and because he was compelled to expend and become liable for funds to cure his wife of her injuries.

The Friedman's are being represented by Fuchsberg and Fuchsberg of New York City.

"They're just super people and I've never had an insurance problem in the years I've been with them."

But the News Wasn't All Bad

By United Press International

Bus drivers, coal miners, shipbuilders and delivery men were on strike today, and new layoffs were announced in the auto industry.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield predicted another great depression unless the government forges a new era of cooperation, and for the first time without qualification, President Ford today said America faces recession.

The stock market reacted to the economic developments by dipping an average 37 cents a share Tuesday. The Dow Jones index of 30 industrials plunged nearly 11 points, closing at just below 614.

The news was not all bad, however. An administration official said sugar prices would drop next year, the House Ways and Means Committee voted a tax break for families earning $15,000 or less, the dollar regained some strength on European money markets, and a tentative settlement was reached between striking delivery men and the United Parcel Service in the New York City area.

The worst economic news Tuesday came from Detroit, where Chrysler announced it is closing all but one of its six U.S. auto plants and laying off almost 44,000 more workers for five weeks—from before Thanksgiving until after New Year's Day.

The latest move brings to about 150,000 the number of auto workers laid off by Chrysler, Ford and General Motors—almost a fourth of the total industry labor force.

Striking coal miners have put off a ratification vote on a tentative settlement, and there appears little chance work in the mines could resume before December in a strike that has caused thousands of layoffs in the steel industry.

About 16,000 Greyhound bus drivers went on strike Monday, shutting down the nation's biggest bus company, and more than 13,000 shipbuilders struck the Ingalls Shipyard Tuesday night, threatening costly delays in Navy construction projects worth $3 City the Teamsters Union and United Parcel Service reached tentative agreement late Tuesday to end a strike by about 4,000 delivery men that has tied up parcel delivery service in the New York City area for 84 days.

President Ford referred to the sagging world economy in a speech to the Japan Press Club.

"Like others, we suffer from inflation. Like others, we face recession," he said.

In remarks at a news conference in Phoenix, Ariz., last Thursday, Ford said America was in a time of economic ills and described it as "a recession or call it what you will." But today, there was no qualification.

In Washington, Mansfield warned of another great depression and told the Senate Democratic Policy Committee, "Rhetoric without action is not enough."

"What I believe is needed to break this impasse is a new spirit of cooperation—cooperation between parties, between branches and between houses of Congress," he said.

"What I fear is that without such cooperation we will find ourselves locked inextricably in an economic disaster every bit as serious as that produced in the decade commencing in 1929."

Arthur Calvagnini, the head of the Agriculture Department's sugar division, said Tuesday retail prices will begin dropping next year and may fall to 20 cents a pound.

In other economic developments, the House Ways and Means Committee voted to end the oil depletion allowance Jan. 1 and to give a small tax break to most low and moderate income Americans by increasing the standard deduction.

Reason for Chrysler's Action (UPI)

Nixon Eyed Mitchell As Sacrifice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon, realizing Watergate was about to come crashing down around his ears, tried but apparently failed to pressure John N. Mitchell into taking full blame for the scandal in April of 1973.

He told his aides privately it was a "goddamn painful" thing for him to do.

But it was clear in White House tapes played at the cover-up trial of Mitchell and four other former Nixon aides Tuesday that the President was looking for a sacrifice to stave off investigators who were closing in on the White House.

"He's, he's not gonna make it anyway..." Nixon said of Mitchell's chances of avoiding eventual indictment. "I think this is the worst one, well, due to the closeness to the President at the time of the crime."

The crime was the bugging of Democratic party headquarters and the time was June of 1972, when Mitchell was Nixon's campaign manager after four years as his attorney general.

So on April 14, 1973, Nixon ordered John D. Ehrlichman to "go to Mitchell" with a message that he should confess all and say he was sorry—a ploy that obviously failed since Mitchell never stepped forward to take the blame.

Tapes containing

Ehrlichman's report to Nixon on the mission were to be played for the jury today.

"I don't think that Mardian or LaRue or Mitchell, uh, or Magruder or anybody want to hurt the President in this thing," Nixon said of the campaign high command on April 14 last year. "Yeah. That has got to be the attitude of everybody because it isn't the man, it's the goddamn office."

Mansfield: No New Ground in Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The "lame duck" Congress is moving ahead, but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield indicated strongly Tuesday it will not break any new ground before final adjournment.

Mansfield told the Senate Democratic Policy Committee that Congress will clean up the appropriations bills, act on the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller as vice president, tackle a trade bill, deal with bills already in conference, and consider a "few additional legislative items."

"... following completion of the items which I have mentioned, I believe the essential and urgent work of the 93rd Congress will have been finished and the way paved for the beginning of the 94th," he said.

The chances of a tax bill passing remained slim after the House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday completed work on a scaled-down package.

The bill would end the oil depletion allowance Jan. 1 and give a small break to most low and moderate income taxpayers by increasing the standard deduction.

In key actions scheduled for today, the House planned to try and override two of President Ford's vetoes—one on expansion of the Freedom of Information Act and the other a Vocational Rehabilitation program.

The Senate hoped to complete an $8.6 billion catch-all supplemental appropriations bill, which includes $200,000 to pay for former President Nixon's transition expenses.

Vote May Come Thursday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Rules Committee meets today to begin consideration of the Rockefeller nomination, and Chairman Howard Cannon, D-Nev., said a vote is expected Thursday or Friday.

House Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., said Tuesday his committee will hold night sessions when it begins public hearings Thursday with Rockefeller as the first witness.

Senate Leader Mike Mansfield said he would like the full Senate to vote on Rockefeller next Wednesday, but he acknowledged that this schedule might be too tight, and the nomination may be put over until after Thanksgiving.

Rockefeller will be the first witness in the House hearings, and is expected to be on the stand for two days. Rodino said he hopes to wrap up the hearings by Dec. 6, which could bring a House vote before Christmas.

Several members of the committee said they still have many unanswered questions about Rockefeller, but predicted he will be confirmed, if no major new disclosures damage his nomination.

"I have a gut feeling he's in pretty good shape," Rep. Barbara Jordon, D-Tex., said in an interview.

"There are some questions I want to have answered," she said, listing his role in a campaign biography of election opponent Arthur Goldberg, and Rockefeller's $2.5 million in gifts and loans as "problems."

"It may not be more blessed to give than to receive—I'm not sure," she said.

Rep. Trent Lott, R-Miss., a conservative, says he differs "very much" philosophically with Rockefeller, but added: "I would have a difficult time squaring in my mind a vote against him just on those grounds."

"I think he's going to be approved," Lott said.

Doing Something About Prices

The economic counterpart of that old saw about the weather goes like this: Everybody complains about high prices, but nobody does anything about them. Happily, there is evidence that somebody is indeed doing something about them—something direct and practical and effective.

One such example is found in the wine industry. The American taste for wine has vastly increased in recent years. California wine sales rose by 10 per cent a year from 1969 to 1972. Prices also have gone up, which is doubtless the main reason why California wine sales increased on only 1.9 per cent last year and the same is expected this year.

That is consumer resistance at work. A sensible response to consumer resistance was made recently when a California vineyard cut the cost of a red table wine from $3.50 to $2.36, whereupon the vineyard sold 4,000 cases that month compared to the normal 1,000. Somebody did something about high prices—the consumer by resisting them, the producer by reducing them to boost demand.

General Motors has taken a different tack, employing fancy sales talk rather than reducing prices. Advertising features GM Chairman R. C. Gerstenberg arguing exactly counter to Treasury Secretary William Simon's call for austerity. According to Gerstenberg, what America really needs is to buy new cars. "It keeps the wheels of progress rolling," says he; "It means growth and investment."

The trouble with all this is that car prices are discouragingly high. "Right now is the time to buy a new car," concludes the General Motors chairman. Sales figures indicate that a great many people have reached the opposite conclusion and figure that right now is not the time to buy a new car.

The situations described are different. Still, it is instructive that when a vineyard reduced its price on a choice wine a lot of wine lovers responded by buying some. That may be a useful tip for Detroit.

The Ovaltine Caper

It was one of those don't-know-whether-to-laugh-or-cry situations. Jim R. Sharp landed his private plane at Montana's Great Falls International Airport and found himself in a ridiculous contretemps with agents of the U.S. Customs Service and the Drug Enforcement Administration. They seized a jar of mysterious brown crystals deemed to be LSD, impounded his plane, and destroyed the film in his camera to prevent his photographing the agents.

In the custom building, the drug agent treated some of the crystals with a chemical which makes LSD turn purple. It looked brown to Sharp, but the agent thought it looked purple. So Sharp was fingerprinted and questioned—and invited to drink some of the suspicious mixture to show it really wasn't LSD. He refused this dare: "I just decided to let the record play itself out."

The record did. So did the idea that the brown crystals were LSD. Laboratory tests showed them to be Ovaltine, which is what Sharp had maintained they were. That was two weeks after the airport incident—two weeks of storage rent for his impounded plane at $3.50 per day. Sharp demanded and did get a receipt for his jar of Ovaltine, which he now says he plans to get back through a lawsuit for damages and inconvenience.

Suggestion to the Drug Enforcement Administration: Instruct agents in distinguishing between purple and brown—Ovaltine brown, that is.

Berry's World

"I'm collecting for those more than 100 poor helpless lame ducks in Washington that I heard about"

By JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — Behind the dull statistics, which measure our deepening economic distress, is a poignant human drama. We have conducted our own economic survey to get the human side of the story.

We have sent reporters into the nation's most fashionable neighborhoods and its most scrubby ghettos. We have spoken to the gentle folks on Sen. James Eastland's plantation in Sunflower County, Miss. And we have talked to their impoverished neighbors, who sit on creaking porches with dull eyes and gnawing hunger pains. We have made spot checks on economic conditions across America.

Everywhere, people are complaining about hard times. New York brokers, de-sponding over the stock market slump are pulling out of their houses and heading South. They hope to find better financial opportunities in Atlanta and Houston.

Ghetto blacks, reversing the previous flow, are also drifting southward. Their families had tended the fields in the Deep South since slave days. Then, suddenly, they were made obsolete by tractors and automatic cotton-pickers. Many of them moved northward to fill up the ghettos of the big cities. They now find life in the ghettos so bleak, so bitter, that those who can scrape up the bus-fare are heading back home.

Probably the worst off are the migrant farm laborers, the thousands of faceless men and women and their anonymous children who move with the harvest, stopping only long enough to pick a crop and to earn enough to subsist until the next stop.

The average stoop laborer, according to United Farm Workers official Gilbert Padilla, earns a meager $3,000 a year. For these wandering workers, who move from crop to crop in beat-up trucks, the gasoline price rise has been a disaster.

Even more serious has been the increase in the price of beans from 18 to 69 cents a pound. Many migrant workers, who help make America the best fed nation in history, are themselves undernourished. Some are too poor to afford even the government stamps to buy cut-price food, and they exist on a diet of starches and water.

Some have settled in California's Sunkist country, where life is a bit better. They live in grower-owned mobile trailers and wooden houses on the edges of the groves.

The ranchers like to keep their stoop workers stooped and submissive. As one technique for keeping them down on the farm at the prevailing wages, the landowners welcome peddlers driving station wagons piled with tacky merchandise. The credit sales help hold the laborers in financial bondage.

Not far from this poverty, growers live in baronial splendor, with poolside parties, skeet shooting and social soirees. But if the tinkling of highball glasses can be heard in their fine houses, there is also much grumbling and grouching. One of the managers of the magnificent Limoneira Ranch complained to us that the orange harvest was off 25 per cent, labor costs are up 15 per cent and profits are down 50 per cent.

On the 5,800 acres of Sen. James Eastland's plantation outside Doodsville, Miss., there is also deepening gloom. "We've had a lot of heavy rains," one of the senator's womenfolk complained to my associate George Clifford. And when the bolls get sodden, she averred, you can't pick much cotton.

"The heavy machinery we're using now can't get on the fields to do the pickings," she said. "Several of the other counties around here have been designated as natural disaster areas, but I don't believe Sunflower County has qualified."

Others living on the black soil of the delta, however, measure their government handouts in tens and twenties, not hundreds of thousands. They are the sharecroppers and the farm hands, who eke out a living running the machinery.

Others living on the black soil of the delta, however, measure their government handouts in tens and twenties, not hundreds of thousands. They are the sharecroppers and the farm hands, who eke out a living running the machinery in the cotton fields. The most they can earn, when they can find work, is $2 an hour. "I haven't heard of none that are getting higher," one of the senator's less-blessed neighbors told us.

Not even the sugar growers, whose prices for raw sugar have shot up from 4.5 cents a pound three years ago to 67.2 cents a pound today, are happy.

George Wedgworth, head of the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative, representing about 150 farms between the southern edge of Lake Okeechobee and the Everglades in southern Florida, grumbled about government controls. "Consumers are going to have to pay more," he said.

Some 8,000 workers have been imported from the West Indies for the back-breaking harvest, which is just beginning. American agricultural workers won't hack down the sugar cane with heavy machetes for the minimum $2.45 an hour. "You and I probably wouldn't last a day," Wedgworth said. "But those accustomed to it prefer being here to working in the West Indies."

In sum, the economic downturn isn't merely a question of dollars. It is an issue of human misery.

Washington Merry-Go-Round The Human Side of the Economy

"That Thing May Get Lighter As Time Goes On!"

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON—Behind the outrageously overblown slurs on American Jews by Gen. George Brown, is sober, well-justified concern at the Pentagon over the drain of ever more costly military aid to Israel at a time of growing congressional resistance to defense spending.

Accordingly, the General's blunt warning at Duke University last month that Israel's influence in the U.S. Congress is "so strong you wouldn't believe it" had a solid foundation. Leaving aside his gratuitous, untrue and grossly offensive crack about American Jews owning "the banks in this country," the newspaper, "Brown's warning about Israel's control over the U.S. Congress is reflected in the vast transfer of scarce military supplies to Israel.

Pentagon concern reached a peak just after the $2.2 billion U.S. airlift of desperately needed military equipment to Israel during and after the fourth Arab-Israeli war in October 1973.

One result of that resupply line for Israel is this shocking fact: late model M-60 tanks airlifted out of U.S. military depots in West Germany and flown to the Mideast battlefield have still not been replaced in the American arsenal a full year later.

All told, some 600 American tanks—both M-60s and M-48s—were rushed to Israel. That was almost 10 per cent of the entire American tank force. With a production line running then at a mere 30 a month, thanks to congressionally-imposed budget restraints, that drawdown of the American arsenal to aid Israel ate up nearly two years of capacity production.

Potentially more damaging for the U.S. was the airlift of nearly one-half the entire supply of the highly sophisticated TOW anti-tank missile, the famous wire-guided tank killer. Although precise numbers are shrouded in military secrecy, it is known that approximately 1000 of these miracle missile-launchers were rushed to Israel.

Military Shortfall

Along with half the supply of TOW launchers, Israel also obtained 2,000 actual TOW warheads, about 25 per cent of the entire U.S. stock. But warheads are far easier to produce than the launcher itself.

There are other examples of the dangerous drawdown of American military capabilities forced on the Pentagon by the October war. For instance, the Air Force today is short of the small percentage of F-4 fighter aircraft—the mainstay of Israel's air force—that is equipped with extremely costly electronic counter measures (ECM). "A high percentage of the very small number of these aircraft we had went to Israel," a Pentagon official told us.

By far the most dangerous shortfall is the M-60 tank. The Army is now desperately trying to boost production to 100 a month from the present rate of 40 (up from 30 year ago) but cannot find suppliers of turrets. The Army has not yet replenished the tanks flown out of Germany to Israel; indeed, it was 2000 tanks short when the Israelis made their October-war demand. The Army's tank arsenal is so depleted that M-60s pledged to Morocco and some other countries have had to be replaced by old-model tanks.

But there is a deeper reason for Brown's outburst against Jewish influence in American politics, going beyond military aid: Israel's political allies here so dominate the debate over the Middle East that the Arab case remains somewhat obscure.

In short, the emotional preoccupation in Congress with defense of Israel short-circuits Pentagon fears about U.S. influence throughout the vast Moslem world, particularly in the Arab oil states. It is a little-known fact that Air Force pilots today are restricted to extremely short flight-time to conserve fuel. Likewise, the Navy's "steaming days" for front-line warships have been drastically reduced.

All this lay behind Brown's ham-handed assault on the power of the American Jewish community. Quite apart from the General's inexcusable rhetoric, the Pentagon views the Middle East in terms of long-range U.S. strategic interests—a view that does not always parallel those of Israel.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The Professional and the Proper

Sadly, it was in the cards. The prostitutes of New York (and elsewhere) have just hiked their prices 10 per cent. What this will do to the poor wage earner is staggering. One outraged customer walked Eighth Avenue between 42nd and 45th with a picket sign: "It violates the President's Guide Lines of 5.5 per cent increases."

Poor man. He forgets that the trollop is not a wage earner. She's an independent merchant, the only one in the world who sells merchandise and keeps it.

Prostitution, to coin a phrase, has fallen on evil days. There are times when a girl can't give it away. Especially if the lady of the evening works near a school. A woman of another era, retired at age 32, told me, "We can't compete with amateurs. What has happened to the moral structure of this country?"

It went to hell in a handbag, that's what. I knew an editor in San Francisco who bought a green door when an old "house" was torn down. He had it on his patio. "Almost every senator and governor since 1880 walked through that door," he said. He was too choked to continue.

As a profession, prostitution is as old as desire. I still think the Good Book made a mistake about who gave who that apple. Parlor pranks are legal in parts of Nevada. They have a senator—brace yourself—named Alan Bible. Good, churchgoing Christian type. Serves on the Interior Committee, among others. Says he's opposed to gun control.

Some time ago, when I covered Broadway (and vice versa), I used to chat with call girls. My wife said, "As long as you don't stop talking, it's all right. They're broads. I'm broad-minded."

There is a built-in snobbery, and some envy, between the proper lady and the prostitute. Helen Rowland once wrote: "No man can understand why a woman should prefer a good reputation to a good time." It was Socrates, on the other hand, who said: "If you get a good wife, you'll be happy. If you get a bad one, you'll become a philosopher."

It is difficult to find a good bad girl. When they unionized, they ruined the racket. No one wants to work. In Paris, they have taxi meters over the boudoir doors. The ticking drives the customers nuts.

In New York, things are so tough the girls are borrowing money from the vice cops. The big city still has a few "houses," but most of the bartering occurs on the curb with a quick hustle to a hotel room. The room clerk can never figure if he's giving you the key, or you're returning it.

The few "houses" left are plush apartments decorated with white rugs, white walls and white furniture. These places charge a sucker $20 to unbutton his coat, not counting city sales tax.

In Honolulu, the po lice keep the prostitutes on one side of one street, and the transvestite homosexuals on the other. I'm so dumb I had to ask a lieutenant which was which.

The built-in suspicion of the female, when she regards a male, is what made prostitution a cash-and-carry business instead of an art. She wants that money up front, like bank assets. One can afford to be benign about the breakers of commandments, especially when they keep breaking the same one.

When I was in the 112th Field Artillery, we used to fire those French 75s all week until our ears rang. Liberty was Watertown, N.Y. It was up near the Thousand Islands.

They had a telephone company square dance on Saturday nights. Down the block was a brownstone house which was busier than a barbershop on payday. I was one of two troopers who never darkened that door.

Years later, I told my old man the story. "You went to the square dance?" he said, wagging his head up and down. "Yes," I said. "By God," he said, "when you were little, I said to your dear mother, 'Jenny,' I said, 'that boy is going to be a late bloomer.'"

No Greyhound Progress

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The nationwide Greyhound bus strike went into its third day today with no settlement in sight.

"There is absolutely nothing we can call progress," said Donald Rhodes, secretary of the 30-union council that represents Greyhound employees.

"We're just going over old issues," Rhodes said after Tuesday's negotiating session with federal mediator Guy Parent.

Negotiations resumed

Tuesday following a one-day halt begun when the Amalgamated Council of Greyhound Divisions went on strike at midday Monday.

Parent called the two sides back to talk. He did not say whether either side had changed its pre-strike position.

The walkout by 16,000 drivers, terminal, maintenance and office workers shut down the nation's largest inter-city bus line, which serves 40,000 locations.

In Madison, Wis., where the state university is located, district manager O.R. Sundberg said some college students may have trouble getting home for the Thanksgiving weekend because of the strike.

A union official in Milwaukee, Thomas Kreiser, predicted the strike would last for at least three weeks even if the negotiators reach agreement, because the contract has to be ratified by the union members.

The voting by mail could take 2½ weeks, he said.

A Tentative UPS Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Teamsters Union and United Parcel Service tentatively agreed Tuesday to a contract settlement to end an 84-day strike that has tied up parcel delivery service in the New York City area.

W.J. Usery Jr., director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, announced the agreement shortly before midnight after suggesting settlement terms to both sides, which previously had not been able to break a stalemate.

Terms of the agreement were not announced, pending ratification proceedings by Teamster's Local 804.

The union negotiators said they would recommend ratification by the 4,500 members at a meeting today and the company said it would recommend that UPS management accept the pact.

Usery said he took the unusual step of recommending the terms because the parties had remained deadlocked after 84 days.

A spokesman for the service noted that the strike interrupted parcel delivery service to millions of consumers and businessmen and threatened further hardship with the advent of the holiday season.

"It has become imperative that a prompt solution be reached between the company and the union to bring an immediate resumption of work," Usery told the parties.

"The price for a continuation of the dispute has become simply too high for the public as well as the parties."

$750,000 Ransom Frees Man

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Kings Point, N.Y., businessman kidnaped a week ago was released unharmed Tuesday night after his family paid a ransom of $750,000, the FBI and Nassau County police said.

The victim was identified as Jack J. Teich, 34. He was abducted in the driveway of his Long Island home last Tuesday, authorities said. No suspects have been arrested.

The ransom was paid at about 9 p.m. Tuesday night near track 17 in Penn Station, according to Nassau County Chief of Detectives Edward Curran.

Teich, bound and handcuffed and shackled with chains, was released off the Grand Central Parkway near Kennedy Airport, Curran said.

Teich is a co-owner along with his father and brother of the Acme Steel Partition Corp. in Brooklyn.

John F. Malone, assistant director of the FBI in charge of the New York office, said Teich told authorities he was abducted by two men in the driveway of his home after returning from work.

His wife, Janet, who noticed her husband's unoccupied car, called police and reported her husband missing last Tuesday.

Telephone calls from the abductors were made last Wednesday evening, the following night and again Tuesday night, he said.

The details of how the ransom was paid were not immediately disclosed.

Some 100 Nassau County police and at least 100 FBI agents were assigned to the case. No news about it had been released until Teich was freed unhurt.

Teich was taken to the FBI's offices in New York after his release.

Malone said he apparently "was well taken care of."

Coming Next Summer

Strollers along Fifth Avenue in New York City got a preview look, at modern double-decker bus similar to the type that will be tooling around New York City streets come next summer. The new model made a stopover here en route from Stuttgart, W. Germany, to Los Angeles. The 23-ton bus is one of 12 German and English buses being brought to the U.S. as part of a demonstration and evaluation of high-capacity buses sponsored by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration of the U.S. Dept. of Transportation. New York City has purchased eight double-deckers which are expected to go into service next June or July. They can seat 86 passengers instead of the present 47, and are expected to lessen traffic congestion and air pollution. (UPI)

'All of a Sudden, It Bends'

DALLAS (UPI) — The big bus, crammed with 140 to 150 people, eased toward the intersection in the curb lane, the only one open in the evening downtown rush hour. The bus is 54 feet long and when it starts to turn the corner, everybody aboard knows it's not going to make it. The nervous glance at the sidewalk and the light pole. But then it bends in the middle like a snake, slides around the corner and goes its way, picking up and depositing passengers, doing its little thing toward raising the statistical 1.4 average persons per car in downtown Dallas during the rush hour. "There's no question some advancement in mass transit must be made if we're going to keep pace," said Jerry Johnson, spokesman for the Dallas Transit System. "There are too many cars, too much pollution, too much traffic congestion. "We can't just keep building more freeways. That's not the answer. As soon as one is built, it's congested the day it opens. Freeways just encourage more people to buy more cars. "It is just a matter of time before some very innovative ideas in mass transit are implemented. The studies are made and the cities are committed. Money and time..."

The bus, called the MANA for its German manufacturer, Mashinefabrik Augsburg-Nuernberg Articulated (bending) bus, is one of the possible answers Dallas Transit is studying as a solution to the downtown traffic glut. The bus toured the country for three months, stopping in Dallas for inspection, study and to haul a few customers. Johnson said the city had not decided whether to use the bus.

Raise Is Recommended

MILLBROOK A state fact finder has recommended a 9 per cent salary increase, exclusive of increments, for teachers in the Millbrook Central School District in Dutchess County, it was announced Saturday. Arthur T. Jacobs, of Mahwah, N.J., is the fact finder named by the State Public Employment Relations Board in a contract dispute between the school district and the Millbrook Teachers Association. Other recommendations include payment by the district of at least 90 per cent of the cost of dependents' health insurance coverage, and the setting up of a trust fund for purchasing dental insurance, as well as a teacher evaluation system.

If you are self-employed, Rondout can help you

Build your own Retirement Plan and qualify for a Tax Deduction of up to $7500 on this year's income!

Recent legislation permits you, as a self-employed person, to put aside up to 15 per cent of your earned income or $7500, whichever is less, into your own retirement plan — and deduct it from your income for tax purposes.

You pay no income tax on these funds each year — you pay income tax only when you receive these funds upon retirement, when your tax bracket will probably be lower.

Best of all, the money you set aside in your retirement fund at Rondout Savings increases rapidly — and you do not pay income tax on the interest earned until you do retire.

Any self-employed person — and that means doctors, lawyers, writers, artists, store-owners, carpenters and so on — may now qualify for retirement benefits and tax deductions as noted above.

Refutes Tosi

Editor, The Freeman:

Your article in the Freeman of Wednesday, 11/13, reporting on the Olive Town Board meeting of 11/12, quoted Councilman Peter Tosi as stating that he felt the "reckless character assassinations of Planning Board members were harmful." Although he did not mention the source of these alleged "reckless character assassinations" during this meeting, he has attributed them to us in other comments made outside the Town Board meeting.

Thus, we are compelled to respond to his comments, and set the record straight before any further misinformation is promulgated on the residents of the Town of Olive. At no time have we personally attacked or questioned the character of any member of the Planning Board. We have focused our questions on the obvious and multiple irregularities of the developer in applying for approval of the Butternut Knolls subdivision, and on the numerous deviations from existing Land Subdivision regulations on the part of the Planning Board. If this is "reckless character assassination", we fear for the future of the democratic system in the Town of Olive.

Mr. Tosi, as a freshman legislator in the Town of Olive, has shown some initial signs of being a good councilperson, but we hope he doesn't fall into the bad habits of his fellow councilpeople, who appear to operate on the thesis that the electorate is not entitled to question any of their actions.

The Town Planning Board has been entrusted with the administration of the Town Land Subdivision Regulations. When it becomes apparent that they are not following these regulations, in giving approval to a subdivision application, we believe that citizens of the Town have the right and duty to question their actions.

Our questions have been thoroughly researched and carefully documented. At no time have we had to resort to "reckless character assassination," since the errors and omissions of the Planning Board have provided ample grounds for the questions we have asked. To the majority of the questions we have raised during the three public hearings on the Butternut Knolls subdivision, the Planning Board has responded with that time honored answer of the person without an answer "we'll take that under advisement".

We submit that Mr. Tosi

Dirty Trick

Editor, The Freeman:

To whomever put dirt in my white 1974 Chevy gas tank between November 1 and November 11.

I've always tried to look for the good things in all people, young or old. I like to have fun and see other people have fun. But that was mean and damaging other people's property should not be fun unless you're sick. I doubt if you'll be caught for this. But if you have a conscience, you have that to live with and somebody bigger than you and I know.

In a time when money is scarce, the damage to our car cost us $31.78. It makes me furious. Please have good clean fun in the future.

should learn the difference between "reckless character assassination" and legitimate constructive criticism. To confuse the former with the latter, is to avoid the basic responsibility. As a fledgling leader in the Town of Olive, we hope that Mr. Tosi will concentrate his energies on responding to the questions of his constituency, even though they may challenge the established political structure of the Town, rather than dismissing these critics of the existing system as "reckless character assassinations".

We have not enjoyed the prolonged struggle over the Butternut Knolls issue any more than have the members of the Planning Board or the Town Board. But let's face it—when rules and regulations are established by the Town Board—supposedly for the good of the community—we believe we have the right to see them enforced. We have been sadly disappointed by the negative and personally vindictive responses that our questions have elicited from the Planning and Town Boards. We can only conclude that we are treading on the raw nerves of a political Town government unaccustomed to responding to the questions of a political citizens.

As former President Harry Truman so eloquently stated, "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen".

Sincerely,
Donna & Hugh Kelly
P.S. Enclosed is a copy of a letter which we sent to former Planning Board Chairman Arthur Sampson upon learning of his resignation. Does this appear to be "reckless character assassination"?

Resign From U.N.

Dear Sir:

If there ever was a time for the United States to resign from the United Nations, now is that time. This morning I turned on the radio and heard what surely should be the last straw. The announcer said that the U.N. General Assembly voted to oust South Africa from the Assembly, supposedly because of its alleged racist policies.

What kind of an organization is it that punishes and expels from its ranks some of the most free and democratic nations of the world, while it simultaneously honors and takes into its fold repressive, aggressive, blood thirsty, and murderous countries such as Red China?

It is obvious that the United States would have been expelled from the illustrious organization years ago except for two reasons. (1) We pay over 40 per cent of their bills. (2) The United Nations was conceived and designed by a few Americans and their eastern European friends specifically to render this country powerless and to economically and financially bleed us to death. The U.N. has been systematically striving for this goal, since its conception. They would be unable to do this if we were not a member of the organization.

We have nothing to lose and much to gain by resigning, since the U.N. is a totally useless as a peace keeping organization. To remain a member of the U.N. is like taking stock in and financing our own destruction.

Now is the time for the United States to resign from the United Nations and give the subversive organization thirty days to clear out of the U.N. Building and the Country lock stock and barrel.

For GOD and Country
I remain,
ATTILIO A. CONTINI

Open Letter

President Ford
The White House
Washington, D.C.
Dear Mr. President:

My name is Stanley M. Chandler, service number US 51 592 179. The prefix "US" in front of my service number indicates I was drafted into the military service. I did not run to Canada. I appeared on the day I was to, and went to training. After training I was sent to Vietnam. I was in Vietnam for nine months (9); from June, 1967 to February of 1968. In February of '68, I was injured and had to be hospitalized for seven (7) months, and of that seven (7) months, I had a cast on my leg for five months. It took the other two months to get to walk right again. In September, 1968, after release from the hospital, I was discharged five (5) months early with an honorable discharge, from the Army.

After an exam at the VA Hospital in 1969, I received a ten per cent disability. In a government cutback, I was rechecked in 1973 and lost the ten per cent disability and the monthly check. I still have trouble with my leg, but I said nothing at that time. Now I understand that there is a bill labeled "Veterans Education and Rehabilitation Amendment Act of 1974, number 12628 and that the highlights of this legislation would increase GI Benefits by 23%, extend entitlement from 36 to 45 months, with certain restrictions, and authorize a $600.00 a year VA Education Loan program for Vets.

I understand that there are strong indications that you, Mr. President, the president of the greatest country in the world, the United States of America, the country that I fought for, the country, while fighting for watched my best friend in Vietnam get killed, the country I suffered for, and in a way, am still suffering from, is going to VETO this needed legislation for Veteran Education and Rehabilitation! !!

I do not believe our Vietnam veterans, who have already made one great sacrifice, should now be the sacrificial lambs in administration cost-cutting and belt-tightening. I have already been caught in a cutback with the loss of my disability check. When the fighting ends, it's easy to forget (for most people). I remember the ones who were broken, blind and dis-abled with the loss of a leg or some other disability. I understand the long road back these men faced—the slow struggle to learn to make their way again in spite of their handicaps. Have you ever seen a man, with no arms and no face, just scar tissue on his face, two eyes and holes for his nose and mouth?

What I feel, is that the government, the people of the United States, and you, yes, you, Mr. President do not give a damn about the Vietnam Vets. It seems that everyone is trying to forget we were in Vietnam. It is beyond me that you allowed the draft dodgers back, people who deserted this fine country when it called for their blood—and you, Mr. President, "I do nothing for the armed forces in Vietnam!"

I ask you now not to VETO this legislation, number HR 12628, Veterans Education and Rehabilitation Amendment Act of 1974... please. If you do veto this legislation, I think it shows us Vietnam vets that we are on, what you may say a shit list, and I think it would be disgraceful if you did veto this bill and, if you do, I would be sorry I am a United States citizen who served this country in time of need.

Sincerely,
STANLEY M.

Realtors Attend Vegas Convention

LAS VEGAS, NEV. Headed by Cornelius Warren president of the Ulster County Board of Realtors and Kenneth E. Hyatt, president of the local board attended the 67th annual convention of National Association of Realtors held recently in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Highlight of the convention was a visit by President Gerald R. Ford who announced for the first time that, of the $3 billion earmarked until now by the Home purchase Assistance Act for buying mortgages on new-single-family homes, would be broadened and at least $300 million of the original appropriation will be used to purchase mortgages on existing homes.

Turning this amount into the purchase of existing homes will help both the buyer and seller at a time when the real estate business is fighting for its very life. Asking Congress to pass a proposed Financial Institutions Act, the President said would steady credit in home buying and, let anks and savings and loan institutions "compete more effectively during periods of high interest rates," thus aiding home buyers and earning more money for savers.

The conention placed high priority on the signing and sending of petitions to representatives in Washington of bill (HR 16994) which is a "Tax Exclusion for Savers" and a "Mortgage Investment Incentive." The Bill provides up to $500 ($1,000 on a joint return) of tax-free interest on savings accounts. Probably no other measure is as crucial as this bill in it's potential for reviving the housing market. It has been estimate this legislation if passed could draw an estimated $24 billion annually into financial institutions which would revitalize the motgage market.

Many outstanding speakers addressed the convention at special sessions including, Senator Williams of New Jersey, Congressman St. German of Rhode Island; Governor O'Callaghan of Nevada; James T. Lynn, secre- tary of Dept. of Housing and Urban development, "Hank" Greenspun, publisher of Las Vegas Sun. Ladies enjoyed luncheon at noon with an address by Dr. Joyce Brothers, psychologist and columnist from New York City.

Others attending from the local board were Realtors Veronica Thomas, Howard Fox, Gene Rios, Joan B. Isgro and Sylvia Snowden. Associate Realtors attending were John and Barbara Melchior, Edmond Thomas and Nancy Fox.

Household Fire Detectors — Your Home Fire Safety Watch

CHICAGO, ILL. A person may become initially aware of the spread of disease through a variety of bodily symptoms. One uses these symptoms as warning signals, alerting the person to future danger if the signals are not heeded. A household fire detector warns against a different type of disease: the disease of fire.

Family dwellings have been particularly susceptible to this disease, having been the scene of 60 to 80 per cent of all fire deaths in this country. Furthermore, many of these fires begin as slow, smoldering flames. Underwriters Laboratories Inc., an independent, not-for-profit organization testing for public safety, believes that these statistics and facts point to the benefits that can be derived from the use of household fire detectors. UL offers this suggestion in the interest of aiding you in becoming your own "fire physician".

There are two types of fire detectors that are available for use in the home: heat detectors and smoke detectors. Heat detectors sense the temperature of the surrounding atmosphere, the rate at which the temperature is rising, or both. In short, they are designed to detect flaming fires.

Smoke detectors are, as their name indicates, designed to sense the presence of smoke particles in the atmosphere. A smoke detector is particularly effective in detecting smoldering fires in their early stages. In these situations, smoke and fire gases are emitted before there is any appreciable increase in temperature. The emission of these gases is a major cause of death by suffocation.

When an abnormal smoke or heat situation is sensed, a UL Listed fire detector will emit an audible alarm. This is an important feature, in light of the fact that a large percentage of dwelling fire victims are asleep when fires originate.

Where you install your fire detectors could mean the difference between an effective and ineffective warning system. For your maximum protection, smoke detectors should be installed to protect each separate sleeping area and at the head of each basement stairway. This basic Speaking at a luncheon for members of the area's financial community at the Southeast Marine Trade Show, Matt J. Kaufman, administrator of the Boating Industry Associations, said boating, tennis, skiing and other recreational industries turned in strong performances over the past year.

Bankers Trust ... Combination

KINGSTON

Two member banks of Bankers Trust New York Corporation will be combined into a single institution that will serve the entire Third Banking District, it was announced today by John H. Barry, president of Bankers Trust Hudson Valley, N.A.

Applications will be filed with state and federal regulatory authorities to merge Bankers Trust Hudson Valley, N.A. with Bankers Trust of Rockland County. If approved, the new institution—Bankers Trust Hudson Valley, N.A.—would have deposits of more than $174 million and 27 branches serving Dutchess, Ulster, Orange, Sullivan and Rockland Counties.

Barry will be a member of the three-man office of the chairman that will have overall management responsibility for the new bank. In addition to Barry, who will be president the other members of the team are Robert H. Brome, chairman and chief executive officer and Jay D. Northrup, executive vice-president. Brome is a senior vice-president of Bankers Trust New York Corporation and Northrup is now president of Bankers Trust of Rockland County.

Barry said the new bank, with its larger lending limit, will be better positioned to meet the growing credit requirements throughout the Third Banking District. He added that the branch operations and staffs of the two banks will not be affected by the merger.

Pending the approval of regulatory authorities, it is anticipated that the new institution will begin operations in the spring of 1975.

The present Bankers Trust Hudson Valley, N.A. has 15 offices and $100.7 million in deposits. Bankers Trust of Rockland County has 12 offices and deposits of $73.2 million. Bankers Trust New York Corporation is the country's fourth largest multi-bank holding company, with deposits of $18 billion.

$1,000 Reward Offered

TOWN OF HURLEY
A $1,000 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of burglars who recently broke into the Snowflake Ski Shop on Route 28 and carted off over $10,000 worth of ski clothes and other items.

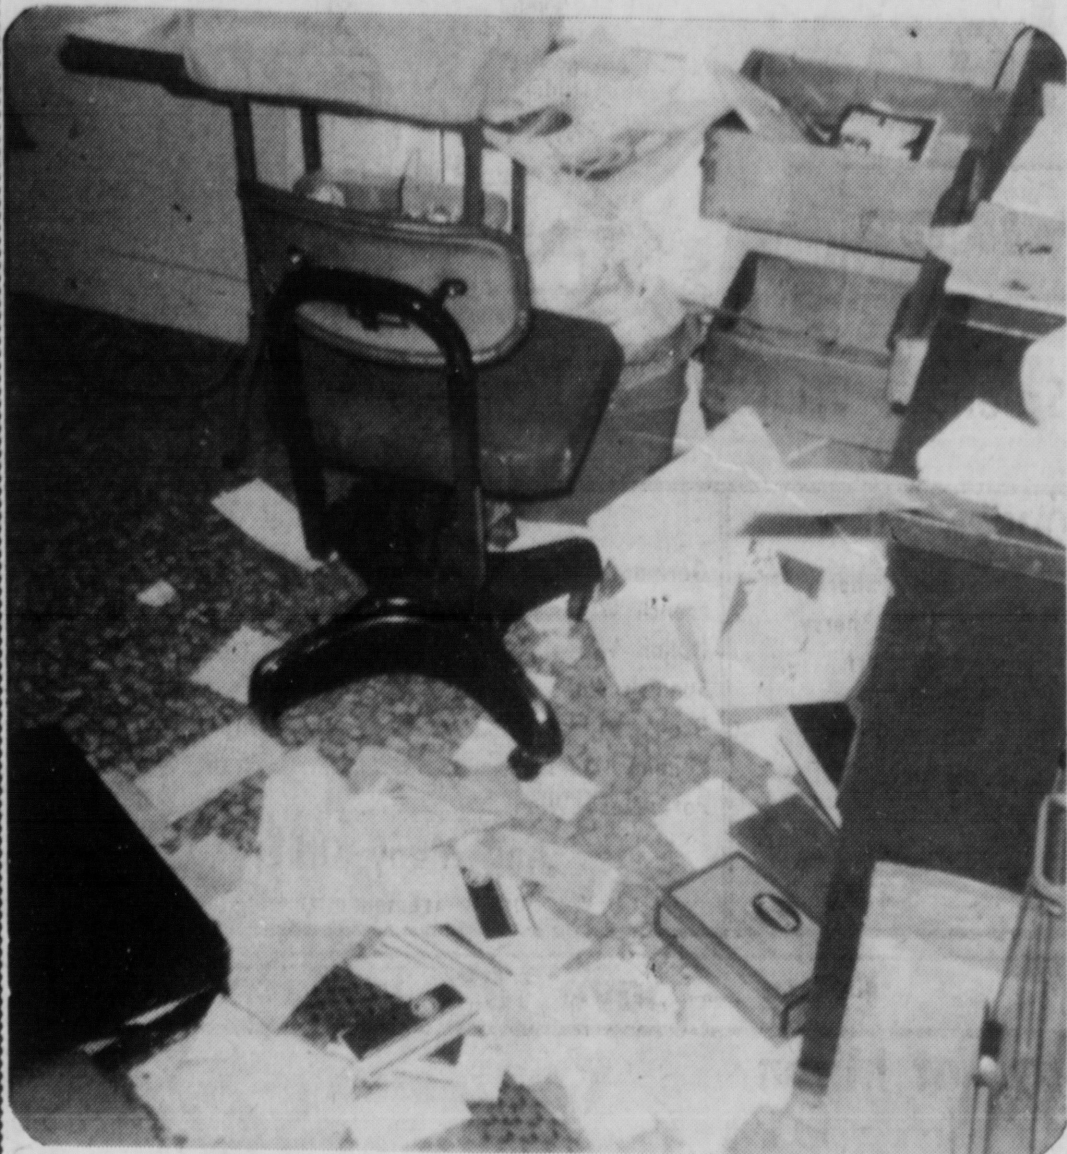

Owner Win Morrison, who is offering the reward, said that when he and his wife, Shirley, opened the store last Wednesday morning they were confronted with empty racks and shelves, and a general mess. "Everything was turned upside down," Morrison said.

State police were called in, but no arrests have yet been made.

Morrison said the burglars apparently parked a station wagon or larger vehicle in the parking lot, broke in through the back door, and carted off the clothing in burlap bags. The thieves left a trail of dropped and sodden clothing along a path worn through a wooded area along which they carried the articles to their auto during a rainstorm.

Anyone who may have seen a vehicle in the parking lot between 11 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 12, and 6 a.m. last Wednesday is requested to contact state police in Hurley.

Despite the loss of a large amount of clothing, the Snowflake Ski Shop is still open for business, Morrison said.

CITY OF KINGSTON, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1974

Another Commissioner, But Who?

By HUGH REYNOLDS
KINGSTON

Mayor Francis R. Koenig has signed legislation creating another position on the Board of Fire Commissioners although he isn't expected to officially fill it until Dec. 31.

Koenig chaired a public hearing Monday night attended by about a dozen persons at city hall. There was general agreement that the number of commissioners should be increased from the present three, the idea being to avoid the possibility of tie votes. The mayor is also a voting member of the board.

However, there was disagreement on the make-up of future boards. One volunteer fire company, Union Hose, represented by Alderman Clifford G. Sin-sabaugh (D-10th Ward), a member of that company, suggested that at least two of the commissioners be volunteer firemen.

The Kingston Volunteer Firemen's Association, represented by Robert Hinkley, took the position that volunteers, owing to their experience, could perform valuable service to the board, but also felt that the mayor should not be restricted in his choices. Koenig read a letter from the volunteer association which said, "We also feel that appointment to the board should be made solely on the basis of a prospective commissioner's qualifications to serve on the board whether he is a member of a volunteer company or not."

Ernest Renn, president of Local 461 of the Kingston Professional Fire Fighter's Association, also spoke in favor of the legislation which takes the form of a charter revision.

Bruce McLean, publicity director for A.H. Wicks Hose

Company and a lieutenant with that company, said that his company was "disgusted" with the manner in which the legislation was passed by the Common Council and ultimately approved by the mayor.

McLean noted that the legislation had been tabled in September with the understanding that there would be a meeting between city officials and paid and volunteer firemen to discuss the issue.

"One of these days the people are going to have to decide whether they want to spend an additional $500,000 or (whether they want) the volunteers," McLean said. "The future of the volunteer fire service is very dim with this administration." Members of Wicks Hose had actively sought inclusion of the "two volunteer commissioners" clause in the legislation.

Koenig, interviewed by the Freeman, said "personally, I'm in favor of two volunteers on the board) but I don't think it should be written into law."

Koenig said there were "no restrictions other than custom" on whom the mayor can appoint to the fire board and if restrictions were desired they could always be written in at some later date. Custom dictates that fire commissioners be members of volunteer fire companies. The Koenig Administration broke with that custom last December when the mayor appointed Michael Cocoran as a fire commissioner.

As for the Dec. 31 date on the appointment of a new man for a three-year term, Koenig is expected to wait until then mainly to keep the new commissioner in synch with the other three. Fire commissioners are appointed to their terms on Dec. 31.

United Way to Change Image

KINGSTON
Ulster County United Way, in an attempt to move from "the Community Chest concept" to "a true United Way," will vote on a change in by-laws tonight which if approved by a two-thirds majority, would remove merger agencies from the board of directors.

The product of a six-month study by a by-laws committee headed by William Stevens, executive vice president of Kingston Trust Company, joined by Wilbur Peters of Central Hudson and Michael Pagliari, personnel manager at Kingston Hospital, the change in bylaws would need 34 votes for approval. There are 50 members on the United Way Board of Directors, 17 of whom represent the member agencies, each one being entitled to a single vote.

"What we're really trying to do is revitalize United Way's operating structure," said William Sloane, United Way president who added that Ulster County United Way is "one of the very few in the country still operating on the Community Chest concept" which he characterized as a "loose coalition of agencies banding together for the purpose of fund-raising."

"This is the second generation of this type of organization," Sloane said. "There are really no other alternatives. This is the modification of an existing structure influenced by a very successful experience across the country." Dutchess County operates under the national United Way concept.

Despite the disparity in membership on the board—the agencies are outnumbered 2-1—and despite Sloane's contention that there has been a "largely positive" reaction from the agencies, the vote on tonight's by-laws revision to remove the agencies from the board is by no means a foregone conclusion.

United Way leaders expect strong opposition from some agencies who are prepared to vote against any change in a system that guarantees them a small but significant influence on decisions made concerning fund raising, allocation of funds and policy of not only their respective agencies but all other agencies as well.

Sloane sees this as one of the major arguments against the current concept. "When an agency wants to change its programs, when it wants to do anything different, they have to go before a group of other agencies for approval which really limits the development of an agency and its services."

"With a fully public board you wouldn't have this," Sloane maintains. Members to the board of directors would be nominated by a five-member nominating committee which itself would be elected once a year for a one-year non-renewable term.

The special meeting of the Board of Directors is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Heritage Savings Bank on Wall Street.

Infirmiry Retirees Honored

Nine retirees of Ulster County Infirmiry who have accumulated a total of more than 100 years service for the county were honored at The Capri, Port Ewen. County Legislator S. Robert Kelder of the Social Services Committee presented citations. Among those honored were (l-r): Charles Torsia, activities leader; Dorothy Schwalbach, registered nurse; Bernhardt Kramer, social services commissioner; Kathryn Heavey, registered nurse; Elmira Brodhead, nurses aid; and Myrtle Straub, head nurse.

I'll Retire To Save Men

SHANDAKEN

Constable-in-Charge Jack Schlegel told the Freeman Tuesday that he is willing to resign permanently if the town of Shandaken will agree to reinstate the five constables who resigned with him in a salary dispute on Nov. 7.

Actually, Schlegel and his fellow constables are not officially resigned since town clerk Paul E. Herdman has still not "accepted" their written resignations. "I guess it doesn't make much difference if the town board accepts their resignations," was the way a spokesman for the clerk's office put it, Herdman not being available for comment. Schlegel said he was in contact with Town Supervisor Raymond Dunn on Monday afternoon and that he offered to come back to work along with the part-time constables at their current salaries. The town has offered raises of from $2.75 an hour to $3.15 to the part-timers and from $7,000 a year to $8,000 a year to Schlegel. "We were informed that we individually have to resubmit our applications," Schlegel told the Freeman. "We felt we were still employed since the town clerk hadn't accepted our resignations."

The town clerk reportedly refused to accept the resignations because he was concerned for the safety of the town without the constables. However, Dunn and the board moved quickly to fill that vacuum, securing extra sheriff's and state police patrols.

Schlegel denied Tuesday that he had engineered the walkout of the constables at the town budget hearing on Nov. 7 which saw five of the constables dramatically come forward and hand in their badges after the town board refused a raise to $8,500 for Schlegel.

"We had originally planned to finish out the year and then make a decision," Schlegel said. "There was nothing organized (at the budget hearing). Most of the people there were supporting us. There was a lot of excitement. In the heat of things, the men just got carried away."

By CARL GRAHAM
WOODSTOCK

The Woodstock Town Board Tuesday night passed a 1975 budget calling for $526,995 to be raised by taxes.

The new figure is up from this year's $411,660. A breakdown shows $218,720 to be raised for the general fund (up from $171,574) and $259,365 for the highway fund (up from $195,329). Based on a total valuation of $40,302,272 the approximate tax rate for the general fund is $5.40, up 56 cents, and for the highway fund $6.435, up $1.09.

Supervisor Verner May said that increased costs of highway departments materials, some of them up as much as 400 per cent over last year, and funds to renovate the Catholic Church property to alleviate crowded conditions at the town hall, had accounted for much of the budget increase.

"The board could have cut down on road maintenance, but we felt that would be penny wise and pound foolish," May said.

May said that town officials had received numerous telephone calls after a weekly newspaper published lists of proposed salaries for town officials. The figures quoted were actually departmental totals and included such items as materials, contractual expenses, and salaries of helpers and other personnel, he noted.

The board awarded bids for two highway dump trucks. Johnson Ford was awarded a $12,229 bid for a two-wheel drive vehicle on which Albany Avenue Garage bid $14,650, and Albany Avenue Garage received a bid of $10,390 for a four-wheel drive vehicle on which Johnson Ford bid $12,871.

The board voted a bond issue to cover expense of a front end loader for the town landfill, which it voted to purchase from H. O. Penn Company for $39,680, with the town receiving credit for a $9,500 trade-in on the present vehicle.

The board voted support for a request from county highway superintendents across the state, asking the Department of Transportation to update its 1973 rate schedule for rental of town and county snow removal equipment. The superintendents noted that prices have increased drastically since the schedule was set, and ask across the board increases of 25 per cent for manpower costs and 400 per cent for materials and supplies used in clearing state roads of snow and ice.

Ms. Jane Van De Bogart was appointed a member of the town board and sworn into office. Ms. Van De Bogart, president of the Woodstock Library Board and a former teacher, won a special election on Nov. 6 to serve the one year remaining on the four year term of Councilman John Gardner, who resigned. Tuesday nights appointment makes her a member of the board until Jan. 1, when her special term begins.

In other action, the board: • Approved $3,000 for the Inter-Church Social Action Committee's hot meal program for senior citizens. The funds will keep the program going until state aid begins.

• Noted that the Town Conservation Commission has asked for a permanent recycling depot and said some changes would be made at the Catholic Church property to permit a depot there.

• Welcomed an observer from the Woodstock League of Women Voters, which has set up a program to be represented at all town board meetings in the future.

The Catskills: Population Boom Dominates Projection

EDITOR'S NOTE—In the first installment of this two part series, The Freeman examined changes that have occurred in the economic climate of the Catskill region since the early 1900's. Today, projections for the future, as prepared by the Catskill Study Commission, are presented.)

Second of 2 Articles

By JON POWERS

STAMFORD

Significant and unparalleled change—dominated by a rapid increase in population that will place increasing demands on schools, hospitals, roads and the environment in store for the Catskill Region for the remaining three decades in this century.

And Ulster County is expected to play an important role in the anticipated growth spiral.

According to figures prepared by the New York State Department of Commerce for the Catskill Study Commission, the region's total population is projected to grow by more than 185,900 persons between 1970 and 2000. More than half those new people, or an estimated 94,450, will reside in Ulster County. By the year 2000, it is expected that better than 60 per cent of the region's total population will live in Ulster and Sullivan Counties.

The most rapid increase is expected to occur in the 1970's, with the growth rate then gradually slowing, but certainly not declining, through the 1980's and 1990's. By the year 2000, the population of the region will exceed 538,000 persons.

Those projections are an indication of just how popular the Catskills will be as a place to both live and work. And even more significant are projections that place the overall growth rate of New York State considerably lower than that expected in the Catskill region.

All this will place extreme pressures on existing services and the environment. New homes and apartments will be needed to house the additional people; expanded health care facilities will be required to adequately serve the increased population; better roads will have to be built or refurbished to handle the extra cars and trucks.

And, of course, there will have to be jobs for the people expected to move here. Yet nowhere in its projections for the future does the Department of Commerce state how and to what extent the business and industrial community will expand over the next 30 years.

Neither does the Department of Commerce project to what extent the continuing energy crisis will affect the migratory inclinations of today's urban dwellers. Nor does it examine current economic problems in relation to the projected expansion of industrial and manufacturing operations.

But assuming that the department's projections are correct—that the region will experience a growth rate that will exceed that of the rest of the state—the people first attracted to the Catskill region for its clean air, uncluttered countryside and relaxing lifestyle will be in for quite a shock when the expected changes take place. For those who insist there is a silver lining in every cloud, the Commerce Department's projections of drastic growth for the Catskill Region need not be considered definitive. In one respect, the department has already emphasized that the growth of the region can at least be partially determined by the people who live here.

"In using these projections," said the department in its report to the Catskill Study Commission, "it should be noted that they are based on a continuation of past trends. Therefore, any major attraction in government policy, such as restrictions on land use, might slow the anticipated growth."

That is exactly what the commission's two-year study is all about. Quite a lot of people are going to be watching very carefully when the commission forwards its recommendations on the future of the Catskill Region to the New York State Legislature next year.

'Presenting... The Tidal Basin Bombshell'

Tidal Basin Beauty

Stripper Fanne Foxe, better known as Mrs. Annabel Battistella, who was accompanying Congressman Wilbur Mills, during the infamous tidal basin incident in Washington last month, relaxes in dressing room after her first performance at the Pilgrim Theater Monday in Boston. She is the featured stripper at the theater for two weeks, and will receive $3,500 per week. (UPI)

Summit Session Set in Peru

LIMA (UPI) — To celebrate the 150th anniversary of South America's independence from Spain, President Juan Velasco Alvarado of Peru has invited seven other Latin American presidents to a summit meeting.

Chief topic will doubtless be the continent's continuing struggle for economic independence from the United States and big multinational companies.

Although Western Hemisphere foreign ministers failed in Quito this month to muster the necessary majority for lifting sanctions against Cuba, America's political leadership in the hemisphere has nevertheless been seriously challenged over the past years.

Invited to Lima are the presidents of Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, Panama, Venezuela and Ecuador. Three days of closed-door meetings will culminate with a joint declaration on Dec. 9, the 150th anniversary of the Battle of Ayacucho.

On that day in 1824, on a high plateau in the Peruvian Andes near Ayacucho, troops from several South American nations and a few British horsemen crushed the last Spanish army left on the continent.

Peru was the last of the Spanish-speaking South American countries to achieve independence and the only nation where both of the continent's liberation heroes — Simon Bolivar and Jose San Martin — led troops against Spain.

Troops from England, Spain and the eight countries which once formed Spain's colonial empire in South America will re-enact the battle next month while the presidents are meeting in Lima.

No student of Velasco's government doubts the theme of the meeting.

Since the retired general came to power in a military coup six years ago, Peru has nationalized huge holdings of American multinational companies in oil, fishmeal, mining, agro-business and manufacturing.

His government supports the oil exporters' cartel and has taken the lead in efforts to form similar cartels among copper and iron ore exporting nations. History books teach that Oct. 3, 1968, date of Velasco's coup, was Peru's true independence day because until then foreign interests controlled the country.

BOSTON (UPI) — I don't care what you say, Wilbur Mills. I drank champagne and loved every minute of it!

It was none other than Fanne Foxe, the "Argentine Firecracker," whose real name is Annabel Battistella. But in Boston she's billed as the "Tidal Basin Bombshell."

And all because of you, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

The 38-year-old exotic dancer made her first stage appearance since the Mills incident Monday at the Pilgrim Theater, an X-rated film and burlesque house.

And, for $3,000 a week — four shows a day, seven days a week — she displays her charms. For the record, Fanne's charms of 36-28-36 are packed on a 5-foot-6 1/2 frame.

It was at 1:30 p.m. Monday that the announcer said, "And now ladies and gentlemen. It's star time. The Argentine Firecracker! The Tidal Basin Bombshell! The one ... the only ... Fanne Foxe!"

The band played "Nights In White Satin," the curtains parted and there she stood, dressed in a full-length pink and white hooped skirt with sequins and fake pearls everywhere. And a towering, whitefeathered head piece.

But as the drum beat picked up the tempo and the band rocked to "Put A Little Love In Your Heart," she started to "take it off." First the gloves went, then the headdress, hoopskirt and long sleeves.

Then came "Tenderly." There went the shoes and stockings, and then Fanne was wearing only a black leather Gstring.

As a finale, she walked among the some 200 men in attendance handing out lollipops. Now she was wearing a fox-trimmed sort of tie-on bra and skirt.

Right after her first performance, she was asked how she thought she did. "Awful," she said. "I was nervous and very tired. I'm not happy with my act right now, but I will be after a few weeks and a lot of work."

Before the show she licked and chewed on her lower lip and she repeatedly readjusted her costume. "I wonder how the people will like me? I wonder if they'll like me?" she asked over and over.

Mrs. Battistella lived in the same Arlington, Va., apartment house as Mills.

On Oct. 14 at 2 a.m., a speeding car stopped suddenly at the Tidal Basin, an inlet of the Potomac. She ran out screaming and jumped into the water, but was fished out by park police.

Mills was identified as a passenger who appeared to be drunk and bleeding about the face.

Later he admitted the incident, told how embarrassed he was and said he learned a lesson: "Don't ever go out with foreigners who drink champagne."

During a pre-performance champagne party Monday, Fanne said Mills told her recently, "Anna, I don't like what you're doing. I don't like you to take off your clothes on the stage."

But she said she assured him that everything was okay since she didn't take off her clothes in a "vulgar manner." However, she pointed out that she does strip down to whatever local law allows.

Before coming to national attention, she said, she got $500 a week for performing at the "Silver Slipper" in Washington, D.C.

Asked why she's now getting $3,000, she lowered her big brown eyes and said, "I don't know. I'm puzzled. But, of course, it's because of all this."

"Even Mr. Mills can't figure out why people pay to see me. Sometimes I'd go over to his apartment wearing jeans and house slippers. And Mr. Mills would say, 'Anna, I don't know why they pay to see you.'"

Exemption Deadline Changed

ELLENVILLE
Home-owning veterans planning to file for real property tax exemption in incorporated villages are advised of a change in the deadline date, in an announcement by George

A. Green, deputy director of the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency.

"The new deadline date of Dec. 31 is effective immediately," Mr. Green said, "and reflects a change from the previous date of Grievance Day in February.

"This means," Green continued, "that applications not received by the village clerk prior to Dec. 31, will not be applied to the tax bill to be received in June.

"It is therefore necessary that anyone wishing to apply for the exemption, or to have his exemption increased, have the application prepared and submitted immediately," the veterans' official said.

The exemption is available to veterans, their wives or unmarried minor children, as well as unmarried widows or dependent parents, if the property was purchased or improved with certain eligible funds, according to the deputy director.

"Eligible funds which may be used, either to establish the exemption or to increase an exemption on record," Green advised in his announcement, "include such things as New York State bonus, mustering-out-pay, GI insurance dividends, readjustment allowance, schooling benefits under GI bills, service-connected compensation, non-service-connected pension and other items."

Those wishing to take advantage of this benefit or desiring any additional information regarding veterans' benefits are urged to contact the county agency.

'The Early History of Kingston'

KINGSTON
The Ulster County Historical Society has announced the publication of "The Early History of Kingston and Ulster County, N.Y." by Marc B. Fried.

The society described the book as one "of major importance to all those interested in the history of the settlement of the Mid-Hudson Region."

The book, called "exhaustively researched" by the society, is a chronicle of the Dutch and early English colonial period in Ulster County, when Kingston was a fortified pioneer settlement and the rest of the county a wilderness inhabited only by the Esopus Indian tribe.

The history of the Indian wars of the 1650s and 1660s is described in detail, including the burning of Kingston by Indians 114 years before the British burned the city.

In addition to detailing the major events of the region's settlement and growth, the book illustrates the lives and times of its inhabitants through a variety of anecdotes gleaned from local court minutes, correspondence and other records.

Fried, a Town of Shawangunk resident, environmentalist, and 1973 candidate for the County Legislature, went back to the translated Dutch and early English records of the period, and even studied Dutch so that he could go to the original Dutch manuscripts in state archives to resolve ambiguities.

Pointing out that while valuable work has been done by historians, each generation of historians has added its "own myths, misinterpretations and confusions," Historical Society President Herbert Cutler said of Fried's book, "It cuts through the fog, brushes aside three centuries of cobwebs, and presents a clear, exciting, unromanticized picture of the period and events which marked our city's and county's earliest period."

The 230-page volume is illustrated with eight maps, and has an introduction by well-known author and art historian Mary Black, who is curator of the New York Historical Society.

Topic: Child Development

Dr. Paul R. Patterson, attending pediatrician at the Albany Medical Center, will speak on "The Physical and Emotional Development of the Elementary School Child" at tonight's meeting of the Hurley Parents Club. The program will begin at 7 p.m. at the Hurley School and the public is invited.

Kingston Library Adds Equipment

KINGSTON

The Kingston Area Library is now in the process of making two new pieces of reproduction equipment — a new copy machine and a microfilm reader-printer — available to the public.

A new copy machine has replaced the old one. It continues to produce copies for 10 cents, a price which has been kept stable for several years.

The new machine performs some unusual functions, and is able to use a variety of material other than standard paper. The image can be reproduced on letterhead paper, colored paper, acetate for slide presentations, and gummed paper for mailing lists. Two-sided copying is also possible. Persons interested in copying on these materials should contact the library, specifying the material they will require.

The microfilm reader-printer will be operating by late December. Its addition to the library was made possible by specifically granted private donations, according to Mrs. Caroline Matzen, director of the library.

The reader-printer will make large, legible copies of portions of newspapers and magazines available on microfilm. Those include various local newspapers from 1820; the Kingston Daily Freeman from 1872; the New York Times from 1963; and magazines such as Time, Newsweek, and Sports Illustrated since 1970.

Javits Speaker At Testimonial

BINGHAMTON

Confirmation has been received from Senator Jacob K. Javits that he will be one of the testimonial speakers at a dinner being given in honor of retiring Congressman and Mrs. Howard W. Robison at the Treadway Inn in Binghamton Dec. 5.

Other speakers will be Congressman-elect Matthew McHugh of Ithaca, who will succeed Robison; Dr. Dale Corson, president of Cornell University; Frank Paul, general manager of IBM-Endicott; and Carl Saddlemire, Tioga County treasurer, and a longtime friend and political confidant of Robison's.

Inquiries for tickets may be directed to P.O. Box 1625, Binghamton, New York 13902.

Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, battered during the past two sessions by recessionary fears, opened lower today in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which has lost 44.35 in the past three sessions, was off 0.08 at 613.97 shortly after the opening. Declines led advances, 193 to 132, among the 533 issues crossing the tape. Turnover amounted to around 510,000 shares.

There were reports early in the day the United Mine Workers bargaining council might reject a tentative new agreement and prolong indefinitely the nationwide coal strike, now in its second week. The council must approve the new pact before the rank and file votes on it.

Chrysler late Tuesday announced it would close all but one of its assembly plants from Thanksgiving through Jan. 6 because of lagging sales. Speculation over the announcement had played a major part in the market's slide this week.

Phone Co. Details Its Proposed Hike

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Telephone Co. has released details of its proposed $380 million annual rate hike, which includes a 10 cent increase in pay phone rates for local calls.

The request, which would increase rates 19 per cent, will be submitted to the Public Service Commission later this week, with action expected sometime next year.

The company said Tuesday no increase will be asked in the basic service charge for most New York City and Buffalo metropolitan area residential customers, which includes a 50 message unit allowance.

But, under some circumstances, a message unit would buy less than it does now.

Charges for installation, operator assistance and business services also would rise. Flat rate service (unlimited calls for a fixed rate) and message-rate service where most calls are not timed would rise 17.5 per cent.

William M. Ellinghaus, president of New York Telephone, said the increase is being sought because "we can't keep up with inflation." He said the higher rates would boost net revenues by 15 per cent.

Among the proposed changes for service within the state:

—Calls in the New York and Buffalo metropolitan areas which now charge only one message unit for unlimited time would cost one message unit for each five-minute interval. (The company said its surveys show 75 per cent of — a reduced rate in message timing for "offpeak" periods — 6 cents instead of 8.2 cents per unit between 9 p.m. and 8 a.m. weekdays and all day weekends and holidays.

—A 17.5 per cent increase in charges for extensions, additional listings, joint-user service and other services and items of equipment for residential and business customers.

—A boost in installation charges — from the current $15 to $26 minimum for residences and from $30 to $60 minimum for businesses.

Bedlam in The Garden

Bedlam breaks out following last second followup shot by Walt Frazier of the Knicks which lifted New York to an 86-85 victory over the Washington Bullets Tuesday night at Madison Square Garden. Frazier (first white suit from right) took a rebound away from Bullets' Elvin Hayes to get the game-winner. (UPI)

Bullets: More To Learn

The Washington Bullets are a "dream team," in the mold of the old Boston Celtics and the New York Knicks of several years ago. But their time has not yet come.

They have a fine balance of size and speed, depth and versatility the ingredients of a championship squad. In the first half against New York Tuesday night, the Bullets clearly convinced the Knicks and as they worked the ball around for good shots, played splendid defense and controlled the backboards to take a 55-43 lead.

In the second half, the Knicks made some adjustments and proved to everyone that the Bullets still have some lessons to learn as they carved out a nervous 86-85 victory.

"We've got the talent," said K.C. Jones, Washington's disappointed coach. "You couldn't design a much better team. But we have to learn to help each other out more and to keep our attack consistent. We let up tonight and they burned us."

New York, no matchup man for man with the Bullets, punctured the illusion of Washington's invincibility with guile and precision, attacking the taller, stronger and faster Bullets by gambling on defense and running them dizzy with a quick-passing fluid offense. The Knicks were patient toreadors and in the end Walt Frazier was the matador who delivered the fatal blow.

With one second left in the game, after 10 lead changes in the last eight minutes and the Bullets leading 85-84, Frazier leaped over the outstretched arms of Elvin Hayes for his 16th rebound of the game and then tapped in the winning basket while still in mid-air. Fouled on the play, Frazier coolly missed the free throw on purpose to let time expire.

Frazier, whose rebounding total tied a career high, scored 17 points in the game, eight in the last period. He also had six assists. Earl Monroe led the Knicks with 22 points but in the fourth quarter, whenever a big play was needed, Frazier was there, stealing the ball, throwing assists and directing traffic.

"Whoever heard of a guard with 16 rebounds?" Hayes said in the disappointed Washington locker room.

Hayes, who plays outside on offense and inside on defense (just the opposite of Wes Unseld), was the main victim of

New York's second half adjustment. The Knicks collapsed around him and Hayes went from 18 points in the first half to none in the third quarter and six in the last period to finish with 24 points and 16 rebounds. Phil Chenier, often compared to Frazier in terms of style and ability, once again could not match Frazier in the clutch. He scored only four of his 18 points in the last period while fumbling the ball away twice.

In other NBA games, Buffalo, playing without Ernie DiGregorio and Jim McMillian, beat Golden State 111-106, Atlanta downed Seattle 122-113, Kansas City-Omaha defeated Detroit 97-87, Milwaukee whipped Phoenix 122-108, Houston beat Cleveland 94-85 and Portland stopped Chicago 98-92 in overtime.

In the only ABA game, Utah beat St. Louis 99-93.

Braves 111, Warriors 106

Buffalo, powered by Bob McAdoo's season-high 43 points, stormed back from a 17-point halftime deficit. The Braves, trailing 53-36 after hitting only 14-of-59 shots in the first half, unleashed a 75-point second half attack. McAdoo, who had 19 rebounds, won the offensive duel against Golden State's Rick Barry. Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, topped the Warriors with 31.

Hawks 122, Sonics 113

John Drew scored 24 of his game high 34 points in the second half to pace Atlanta. Aiding Drew was Dean Meminger with 26 points and Tom Van Arsdale with 23. Spencer Haywood had 31 points to lead the Supersonics.

Kings 97, Pistons 87

Jimmy Walker scored seven straight points late in the final quarter to lead KC-Omaha. Walker, who finished with 23 points, started his string after the Pistons had narrowed the Kings' lead to one point, 82-81, with less than five minutes left.

Rockets 94, Cavs 85

Mike Newlin hit 24 points and Zaid Abdul-Azid pulled down 18 rebounds to lead Houston to its fourth win in a row and moved the Rockets to within one game of the Center Bill Walton for the second straight game. He is recovering from a dislocated finger.

Bucks Become Winners Again

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Jim Price and Jon McGlocklin have adjacent stools in the Milwaukee Bucks dressing room.

McGlocklin has been with the Bucks since they began. Price joined the Bucks only a couple of weeks ago. Tuesday night they combined to change a cloudy, rainy November day to springtime in Milwaukee.

Together they led the Bucks to a 122-108 win over the Phoenix Suns, ending an 11-game losing streak, the longest in the Bucks' history. "God, it felt so good—so darn good," McGlocklin said as he clutched Price's hand. "We've all needed this for so darn long. Oh how we needed it."

Price admitted it felt great to win his first game in a Buck uniform, and he credited "excellent team play and good situation basketball" for the victory.

If it was situation basketball, then the situation was tailor-made for Price, who scored 43 points—25 of them in the first half. He hit on 16-of-23 shots and 11 of 13 free throws.

There was some criticism of the trade that sent Allan to Los Angeles for Price but Coach Larry Costello thought some of that criticism might go away now.

"Lucius was an exciting player and a lot of fans liked him," he said. "But I think they might like Jimmy just as much. I sure like him."

When Price left the game with 44 seconds left, Costello grabbed him beside the head and gave him a rough hug. And in a whisper he turned to McGlocklin and grabbed his hand gratefully.

McGlocklin, who has been suffering through some rough times, came to the rescue when the Bucks needed it most. They led at the half 69-50, thanks to Price's 25 points and Bob Dandridge's 21. But Phoenix, led by Charlie Scott, stormed back to close to within nine at 93-84.

Then McGlocklin took over, scoring 14 points in the next eight minutes as the Bucks built a 115-98 lead and were home free.

"What a great game," Costello said after it was over. "We needed this in the worst way. We were getting tight and when you're tight it becomes easier and easier to lose. Now things should loosen up."

McGlocklin finished with 16 points and Dandridge had 27 for the Bucks while Scott had 32 for Phoenix.

The feeling of relief was a double-barreled one for the Bucks.

They also got the news that Karrem Abdul-Jabbar, who's absence with a broken hand was mainly responsible for the losing streak, will return Thursday night when the Bucks play the Kings in Kansas City.

Dr. George Korkos, Bucks team physician, said the hand is "completely healed and he has total mobility. There's still a little swelling, but he has no pain."

Ernie D.'s in Pain

Buffalo guard Ernie DiGregorio grimaces in pain as he maneuvers with his crutches at the Braves-Warriors game Tuesday night in Buffalo. DiGregorio, last season's Rookie of the Year in the NBA, recently underwent knee surgery. Braves won, 111-106. (UPI)

Rangers' Jeff Burroughs MVP In American League

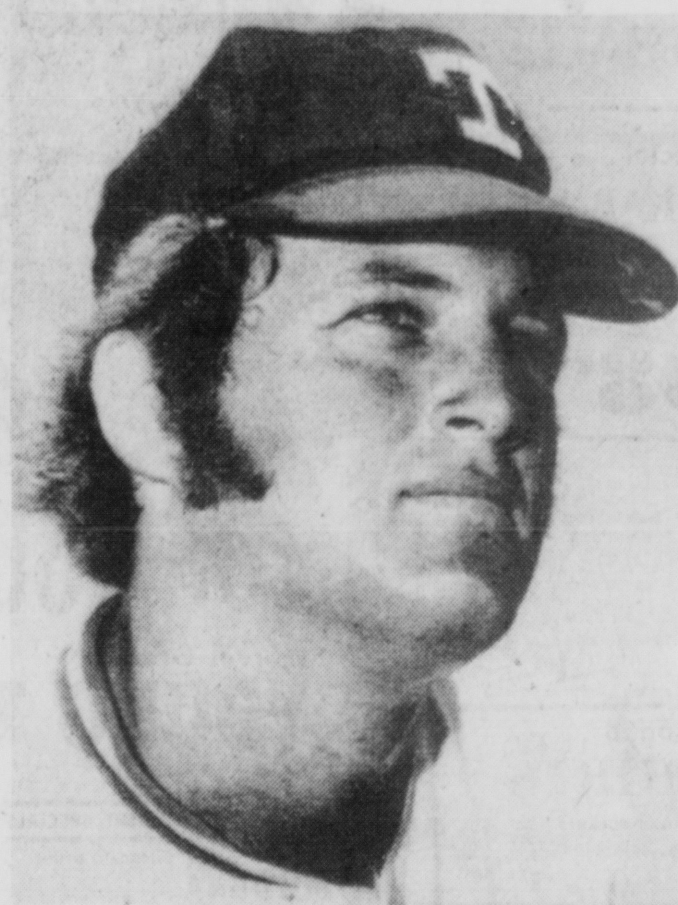

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jeff Burroughs of the Texas Rangers, a protege of Ted Williams who started the 1974 season hoping to avoid the "sophomore jinx," was voted the American League's most valuable player today by a decisive margin over a trio of the world champion Oakland A's.

The 23-year old native of Long Beach, Calif., third youngest player ever to win an MVP award, received 248 points in voting by a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America. Stan Musial in 1943 and Vida Blue in 1971 were the only players ever to win the award at a younger age.

Following Burroughs in the voting were the Oakland Trio — Joe Rudi with 161½ points, Sal Bando with 143½ and Reggie Jackson with 119 — with Ferguson Jenkins of the Rangers fifth at 118 points.

"It's the greatest honor a player can get," said Burroughs when notified of his election. "And it makes it even greater being only 23 years old and in my second year of major league ball."

"I have to say that Ted Williams taught me to think at the plate a little more—that hitting isn't just walking up there and taking three swipes," Burroughs added. "And I also have to say that (manager) Billy Martin was a terrific influence on me. It was really nice to start to win after we had been the dogs of baseball for two years. The year just kept getting more exciting as it went along."

Burroughs, who is known to his teammates as "Mr. America" because of his powerful build and enormous batting power, hit .301, connected for 25 homers and led the league with 118 runs batted in last season.

"My only real goal when I started the 1974 season was to avoid what they call the sophomore jinx," Burroughs said. "I had no idea that I might be a candidate for the MVP. I knew I had a decent year in 1973. I just wanted to come back and have a good season."

Signed by Bob Short in 1969 on the personal recommendation of Ted Williams. Burroughs played parts of seasons with Washington and Texas in 1970, 1971 and 1972 before hitting .279 with 30 homers and 8 RBI for the Rangers in 1973.

Burroughs received 10 firstplace votes, five for second, three for third, one for sixth and one for ninth—the only player named on all 24 ballots. Rudi had 5½ first-place votes and Bando 3½—one writer voting for a tie—Jenkins had three and Jackson, the 1973 winner, and the A's 25-game winner, Jim Hunter, one each.

Burroughs is the first player of an expansion team to win the MVP award. A total of 34 players received votes from the committee with points being distributed as follows—

Cold War Is Heating Up Between Garvey and NFL

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI) — The cold war between Ed Garvey and the National Football League is heating up again.

Garvey, the executive director of the NFL Players Association, said Tuesday he had been informed by the league that it intended to cut each roster by 11 players next season, from 47 to 36. But a spokesman for the NFL Management Council, which represents the league in negotiations, accused Garvey of misrepresentation.

Garvey met with the New York Jets for nearly 90 minutes after practice Tuesday and defensive back Steve Tannen, the club's player representative, said later that Garvey had informed the club the rosters would be cut to 36 players next year.

"I got a letter from John Thompson (head of the Management Council) dated Oct. 22 advising me that the squad limit would return to 36," said Garvey in a nearly deserted dressing room. "All player reps have been told and it will appear in our newsletter this week. The fundamental problem in not having an agreement with the owners is that you don't know exactly what they can or cannot do."

The players struck for more than 40 days this summer but returned to work and have been playing the season without a contract.

But the Management Council explained things differently.

"The constitution and by-laws of the NFL have provided every year since 1964 for a 36-man player limit," said Terry Bledsoe, director of information for the Council. "The letter Garvey refers to is one in which John Thompson reminded him that the increase in roster adopted for the 1974 season arose from a special situation brought about by the NFL players strike and is not to be considered a change in the basic active player limit per club of 6 or less."

Bledsoe said Thompson merely was advising Garvey that the current 47-man roster should not be considered a precedent. Tannen said the Jets received the news with little emotion.

"It's hard to get reaction about anything in the middle of a season," he said. "The Players Association has to keep in the uppermost of your mind when you're thinking about trying to win games. The only time you hear about the Players Association during the season is when there's a grievance."

"All I know is that if I was one of those 36, I would demand a helluva lot more money. You have less players to do more jobs. Overall, it's a lot to ask to have just 36 guys. There are injuries, specialties and you need the people."

"I guess it really hasn't hit them (the players). There are gonna be 11 less guys getting paychecks if this goes through."

A total of 286 players would be dropped from the 26 teams in the ruling did go through.

Each spring, the owners meet to set a roster figure. It had been 40, with a seven-man taxi squad until the current season when owners permitted 47 players on the active list because of the strike and possibly because of pressure from the fledgling World Football League.

Mets Beaten, 7-4

SHIZUOKA, Japan (UPI) — The Yomiuri Giants erupted for seven runs in the fifth inning Wednesday and beat the New York Mets 7-4 before 30,000 at Kusanagi Stadium to cap their 11-game series with six wins, three losses and two ties.

Yogi Berra's Mets, who arrived on Oct. 24, finished their 18-game goodwill series as guests of the Yomiuri Shimbun newspaper with a record of nine wins, seven losses and two ties. They are scheduled to depart by a chartered plane Sunday for New York.

Joe Torre drove in three of the Mets' runs with a home run.

The Mets had Torre on third and Ed Kranepool on second with two out in the fourth but failed to score when second baseman Shozo Doi robbed Don Hahn of a hit with a fine running throw to first. Torre and Kranepool had singled off starter Nobuhiko Tamai.

The Mets took a 4-0 lead in the top of the fifth.

Islanders Glad to Be Home

"It's very nice to go traveling," says the old song, but the New York Islanders, thank you, are just as glad to be home.

After a disastrous all-losing five-game road trip that extended their winless streak to seven National Hockey League games, the Islanders returned home Tuesday night and found the partisan crowd a refresh new change.

With Ed Westfall scoring a pair of goals and assisting on a third, the Islanders beat the Pittsburgh Penguins 4-3, giving Coach Al Arbour reason to be happy—although not yet convinced the worst is over. "We're not back to where we were," said Arbour, "but hopefully tonight was the start of the road back."

Westfall got the Islanders out in front with the game's first goal and later put them ahead 2-1 with his second. After Bob Kelly tied it again for Pittsburgh at 8:19 of the second period, Clark Gillies put New York ahead to stay less than a minute later.

"Eddie (Westfall) gives us that needed experience," said Arbour. "He doesn't rattle out there and he's been a steady influence on all our kids."

In the only other NHL game, Washington downed California 6-4 and Vancouver beat St. Louis 6-3. In the World Hockey Association, Houston bombed Indianapolis 10-0, Toronto edged Cleveland 6-5, New England beat Chicago 5-4 and San Diego topped Vancouver 3-2.

Caps 6, Seals 4
Like the Islanders, Washington too broke a lengthy winless streak—14 for the Caps. Mike Marson, the only black player in the NHL, scored a pair of third period goals for the Caps, who also extended California's two-year winless streak on the road to 18 games. Canucks 6, Blues 3

Andre Boudrias scored his 400th NHL point as he assisted on one goal and hit the tying goal to lead Vancouver over St. Louis. Gerry Meehan hit what proved to be the winning goal early in the final period. The victory shoved the Canucks nine points ahead of Chicago in the NHL's Division 2. Aeros 10, Racers 0

Mark Howe scored a three-goal hat trick to highlight the Aeros' runaway over the expansion Racers. Mark's brother Marty also was part of the Houston scoring as was Larry Lund, who picked up his 15th to tie Winnipeg's Bobby Hull for the WHA lead in that department. Whalers 5, Cougars 4

Fred O'Donnell and Tom Webster scored less than a minute apart midway through the third period as the Whalers handed the Cougars their sixth straight loss. Francois Rochon scored a hat trick for Chicago. Toros 6, Crusaders 5

Pa Hickey scored a pair of goals and Frank Mahovlich assisted on both of them and scored one himself to pace the Toros' win. Hickey's second goal which proved to be the game-clincher, came on a power play six minutes into the third period. Mariners 3, Blazers 2

Gene Peacock fired in two goals and Andre Lacroix turned in a pair of assists to provide San Diego with its victory over Vancouver.

U. S. Retains Perfect Record

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—The United States retained its unblemished record Tuesday night when it won a forfeit decision over Puerto Rico in the second annual World Amateur Baseball Tournament.

The forfeit was called in the sixth inning while the U.S. led 2-1. An argument broke out after an umpire ruled an American batter had gotten hit and in the ensuing discussion, six Puerto Rican players as well as their manager, Jose Baez, were ejected from the game.

After 40 minutes of arguing, during which Baez refused to leave the field, the umpire awarded the United States an automatic 9-0 win.

Colombia won its two games in St. Petersburg Tuesday, winding up an unfinished Monday night game against Canada with a 14-5 victory then beating China 5-2.

Nicaragua also remained undefeated Tuesday night, beating Italy 6-0. In another game at Tampa, the Dominican Republic handed Canada its second loss of the day, 12-11.

Mixed-Up Situation

It's a mixed-up situation as Islanders' Bobby Nystrom (23) trips and collides with teammate Denis Potvin (5) and linesman Ray Scapinello during game with Pittsburgh Tuesday night. Islanders won, 4-3. (UPI)

A Prophet Without Honor

This is the story of two Old Timers baseball groups—one in Kingston, the other in Poughkeepsie.

The one in Kingston came first and was used as a model by the oldies from the Bridge City. One has flourished, the other is now extinct.

In case you were wondering, the original group perished, the other has just held a blockbusting 17th annual Old Timers dinner with a nice surprise kick. The Kingston organization went out of business several years ago.

Steve Waryas, one of Poughkeepsie's all time baseball boosters, was on the phone with the delightful news.

"We gave Fred a big surprise here last night," he said. Fred, of course, is Fred Davi, the Laughing Boy from Glasco, who completed 50 years in baseball with the 1974 season.

"We had a terrific turnout, about 340 people," Waryas enthused. "We inducted 10 players, with a couple guys in their 80's. We now have honored 172 players in 13 years."

The Poughkeepsie testimonial to Fred Davi is further evidence that his accomplishments are part of the Hudson Valley baseball legend. After 50 years in a locale, you are either (1) forgotten completely or (2) ignored. Fred Davi is living proof that a man can surely be a prophet without honor in his own country.

"We recognize what Fred has done for baseball in the Hudson Valley," said Waryas, "and we're happy to have had the chance to honor him. He is truly the last of a breed."

Do you recall those TV commercials plugging the closed circuit sales for the World Cup soccer competition. Pretty raw stuff. Some people complained that they were selling violence. They had a point.

On the international level, violence is unfortunately too commonplace—nationalism and all that. On the junior college level it's senseless and, as demonstrated in the recent Region XV tournament, avoidable. Officials there asserted themselves quickly and dished out enough warnings to keep control of the game.

Officials in regular games (high school as well as JUCO) should of course do likewise, but maybe some sort of stand from league administrators should be announced. How about a Region XV edict, for example, that says the team guilty (in the judgement of the officials) for such misbehavior gets hit a forfeit—and maybe a suspension for repeated incidents.

Backtracking to that imbroglio between Ulster and Bronx CC all witnesses seem to agree that the perpetrator was the team (and spectators) from the Bronx school. The melee featured the use of implements that would be adjudged in any court as lethal weapons.

That Bronx Community team had a history of such outbreaks this year, one of which (from reliable sources) included an episode of knife wielding.

Let's face it, Coach George Vizvary's finely-honed Senators are fair game for most of those New York City schools. It's more than just the city slickers against the country rubes. There are, of course, no country rubes on the UCCC roster.

Vizvary's squads also have an exasperating habit of striking quickly and running up big leads by soccer standards, you know 2-0, 3-0. That kind of margin in the early going of a soccer contest is almost insurmountable. So, apparently the city slickers opine, if we can beat them, we'll rough them up a bit. Which they have done with considerable expertise in the past.

The Los Angeles Dodgers were the first in sports history to play before five million fans in one season.

The 1974 National League champions drew 5,054,924 fans to all of their games beginning with spring training. The Dodgers' home attendance in 1974 was 2,854,714.

On the road, the Dodgers drew 2,004,387 coupled with 105,823 in spring games for the five-million total.

It was the 10th time in their Los Angeles history that the Dodgers went over the 2-million mark. In 17 years in L.A., the Dodgers have averaged 2,122,890. You wonder why they left Brooklyn?

In winning 20 games for the Los Angeles Dodgers this year, Andy Messersmith became the 14th pitcher in history to win 20 games in both leagues. But he was only the third pitcher to go from the American to the National to hit the charmed circle—and the first in 50 years. The last A.L. to N.L. 20-game winner was Carl Mays of Cincinnati with 20-9 in 1924, after recording a 26-11 mark for the New York Yankees in 1920.

Not only did Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals set a new one-season base stealing record (118) in 1974 but he and teammate Bake McBride (30) set a new two-man record for the same team with 148. The previous mark was 136 by Clyde Milan (74) and Danny Moeller (62) of the 1913 Washington Senators and tied by Maury Wills (104) and Willie Davis (32) of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

They said it couldn't be done, but representatives of the men's division of six Ulster County golf clubs are meeting Thursday night at Wiltwyck Golf Club to establish a clearing house for men's tournament dates.

It is a sign of maturity and the diminution of provincialism at area golf clubs. Representatives will attend from Wiltwyck, Twaalfskill, Woodstock, Locust Tree, Rondout and Sawyerkill.

It's taken a long time to get these gentlemen together and nothing but good (for Ulster County golf) can emerge from such a meeting.

The Machete Man

Baby it was cold outside, but Junior Ah You willingly demonstrated just how much he wants to beat the Edmonton Eskimos in Vancouver Sunday in the Grey Cup Championship, the Canadian equivalent of the Super Bowl. No, he can't use the machete Sunday. (UPI)

No Surprise

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)

It comes as no surprise to Bo Schmebcher that his No. 2 rated Michigan football team is an underdog to third-ranked Ohio State.

"You guys determine that," Schmebcher said, overlooking the fact that point spreads are set by oddsmakers.

"You people expect us to win by 50 points every week," he said. "You can't go out and do that week after week after week."

"Some of those teams we played had their best game of the season against us," he said. "Look at the number of undefeated teams left—there aren't too many. That ought to tell you something."

The Buckeyes are an eight-point choice to confuse the Rose Bowl picture by winning against the undefeated Wolverines. Ohio State got its only loss this year when Michigan State put a 16-13 blight on its record two weeks back.

Should Ohio State win, both teams tie for the Big Ten title and the conference athletic directors fly to Chicago Sunday morning for a face-to-face vote on the "most representative team" to play in Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day.

Should the vote be split 5-5, the conference has decided, Michigan will go since Ohio State has gone two years running. An outright win or tie in the game itself also will send the Wolverines.

The two are even, 2-2-1, in the five games played since Schmebcher assumed the Michigan coaching job, and six of the last seven games have determined the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl team. Last year's 10-10 tie produced a vote that Ohio State won.

"If you go back over the last five games," Schmebcher said, "we've played only one game where they've outplayed us. That was in 1970 when they beat us 20-9. All the others have been close games."

"The kicking game will be important," he said, "and so will mistakes. Kicking and turnovers—they're vitally important in a big game."

Quarterback Dennis Franklin, who re-injured his left ankle last Saturday, and middle linebacker Steve Strinko, who hurt his knee, both took a full part in Wednesday's workout.

Franklin is essential to the Wolverines because of his experience, passing, play calling, and ability to run the option when healthy.

Michigan State exposed two weaknesses of Ohio State's it has had time to correct, a vulnerability to the long pass and occasional trouble with the option.

Teams have also run more on the Buckeyes this season than in some recent years. The Wolverines do not have the big backs to hammer away, relying instead on explosiveness and quickness in fitting through the hole.

But none of their foes have been like Ohio State. And nobody the Buckeyes have played this year can match the Wolverines.

Hale's Practice Round
Good News for America

CARACAS (UPI) — For a man who shot a sparkling seven-under-par 63 in a practice round, Hale Irwin sounded like a modest fellow on the eve of the opening of the 22nd World Cup golf championship.

The U.S. Open champion, who teams with PGA winner Lee Trevino to defend the United States' possession of the World Cup beginning on Thursday, walked off the 7,000-yard, par-70 Lagunita Country Club course as if it were his home. But to hear Irwin tell it, you'd think he was golf's champion pessimist.

"I may have shot a 63 while practicing," Irwin said, "but it could have been an 83. I really wasn't counting."

Irwin had a good deal of praise for the Lagunita course, which for the next four days will host 47 national teams vying for the 22nd World Cup.

"The layout of the Lagunita course is magnificent, although the greens are perhaps a little slow," Irwin said. However, the bespectacled U.S. pro reasoned that the condition of the greens was due to the recent rains which have fallen on the Caracas valley.

Irwin, favored with Trevino to successfully defend the U.S. claim on the cup, said that winning the U.S. Open was the greatest thrill of his life and "could not compare with beating Gary Player in match play competition."

"Medal play is superior to match play because it is much more exacting. Medal play is also more exciting for the public because there can be up to six players tied for first place until the final hole," he said.

Irwin defeated Player, 2-and-1, in the finals of the Picadilly Match Play championship earlier this year.

While Irwin and Trevino have been established as solid pretourney favorites, Ron Coffman of Golf World magazine, is betting on the South African team of Bobby Cole and Dale Hayes to take the Cup.

Coffman also said that the Japanese team of Jumbo Ozaki and Asao Aoki will be strong contenders for the coveted international prize.

Other teams that figure to give the U.S. entry a run for its money include England, Ireland and the Republic of China.

England will be represented by Peter Townsend and Maurice Bembridge, while Ireland will have Christy O'Connor Jr. and Ryder Cupper Eddie Pollard. China is fielding LuLiang Huan and Kuo-Chie Hsiung.

Also expected to do well is the Argentine team of Roberto DeVicenzo and Fidel DeLuca. DeVicenzo, one of the dons of South American golfers, holds the 72-hole individual record of 269, which he shot in the 1970 World Cup in Buenos Aires.

DeVicenzo, who is playing in his 19th World Cup competition, also won the individual title in 1962 and teamed up with Antonio Cerda to capture the team trophy for Argentina in 1953.

New League

SAUGERTIES

The Saugerties Athletic Association's Sawyer Basketball League, a new circuit for Saugerties residents only (16 years and older, who do not play in the Premier League) launched its 1974-75 season with four games.

In first night action, Flower Garden buried the Undertakers, 71-33; Fire Department doused Keeley's Korers, 65-47; Ma Bells rolled over Mahogany Ridge, 48-30; and Mark IV Printing downed the Flyers, 50-37.

Fred Wilcox pumped 26 points and snared 26 rebounds in the burying of the Undertakers, both highs for the day. Kerin Campbell paced the Morticians with 15 points.

Mouse Wov-Iven, one of the village's all-round athletic stars, led the Fire Department with 20 points. Clark Hackett hooped 19 points and had 7 assists. Steve Haun led the Korner with 23 points and Bob Hieronymus led all rebounders with 13.

Rich Malke potted 14 points and Joe Hellenschmidt pulled down 10 rebounds in the Ma Bells victory over the Ridgers. Mark IV exploded for a 20-8 margin in the fourth quarter against the Flyers. Jim Barbato led the Printers with 13 points and Bill Morrison got them 10 rebounds.

Pitt Will Remember
Off-Field Daniels

PITTSBURGH—Pitt quarterback Billy Daniels, who ended his college football career one game prematurely by undergoing knee surgery, will not go into the Panthers' record books.

But he will be remembered by fans as one of the players who helped Coach Johnny Majors turn Pitt around from a consistent loser to a team with national ranking.

Daniels, recuperating at Presbyterian-University Hospital after successful surgery for torn knee ligaments, was injured in Pitt's 14-10 loss to Notre Dame Saturday. He will miss the final season game when the Panthers, 7-3, host Penn State, 8-2, in a nationally televised game which probably will decide the best team in the East.

Thus he ended his Panther career with 171 pass completions in 334 attempts for 2,308 yards and 13 touchdowns. He also rushed for 708 yards.

They are not record figures but they are memorable ones for Daniels and the small group of seniors who watched their team turn around in two years under Majors.

"It's a shame I can't finish out with them," Daniels said Tuesday. "There aren't many seniors left, the guys I started with. I'm one of the few of the original—what were there, 25, 30? That group has been through a lot."

Daniels made his debut near the end of the 1971 season in a game that saw the Panthers lose to Penn State, 55-18.

"Frankly, we looked like a bunch of ragamuffins," he said of his days under former coach Carl DePasqua. "The transition was the biggest thing. I can remember sitting in the stands as a freshman—freshmen weren't eligible then—and hearing people cut up Pitt. Some games, I couldn't watch the second half."

"Under Majors, we were in every game. And you could see the difference from last year to this year. We were in every game last year, but we still had doubts. This year, we could stick with anybody. We knew we were good team."

Ironically, Daniels will be replaced in the Penn State game by Bob Medwid, whom Daniels originally replaced to get the starting quarterback job.

many outstanding athletes and people who have contributed to the black athlete. We're talking about people using sports in bringing all people in the world closer together."

A new conference was told Tuesday that those nominated for induction next spring include Henry Armstrong, Elgin Baylor, Ralph Boston, Roy Campanella, Wilt Chamberlain, Roberto Clemente, Ralph Dillard, George Halas, Dr.

Fine Lee Trevino

SYDNEY (UPI) — Lee Trevino Wednesday was fined $655 by the Australian Professional Golfers Association (PGA) for his remarks about Melbourne's Royal Golf Course and failure to attend the presentation following the Chrysler Classic Tournament earlier this month.

Colin de Groot, chairman of the PGA's tournament committee, announced the fine and said Trevino breached tournament rules by his criticism of the Royal's greens and imposed the fine immediately after the committee learned Trevino had left the course without attending the presentation.

Conlan Released

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Jocko Conlan, a retired Hall of Fame baseball umpire, is recovering at home from open heart surgery.

Conlan, who will be 75 on Dec. 10, was released from St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday. He underwent corrective heart surgery Nov. 6.

Kickers Nearing the Finish

KINGSTON
"We have high hopes of taking the last two games on our schedule," said goal-publicity director Joel Tomson, as the Kingston Sport Club Kickers prepared for Sunday's game against Banatul of New York at 2:30 p.m. at St. Mary's Field.

Tomson said that, "despite our seasonal record, we feel we have made good progress in establishing the Kickers as a local team. The future looks bright for us, as more and more area and high school and college talent becomes available to us."

The Kickers have failed to generate any great amount of public interest among Kingston area fans but Tomson admitted that "this is a matter of education. But, I think that when area players develop into real stardom that will change, too."

Banatul of New York is the current leader of Division III South in the German-American Soccer Association. They have an 8-1 record with no ties. Danis of New York and Poughkeepsie Blue and White, a traditional Kingston foe, are tied with 3-1 wins with Danis charged with two ties and Poughkeepsie one.

In other divisional races, Inter-Giulana of New York leads the Major Division North with 15:3 point rating off six wins and three losses. Dalmatinac and Doxa are tied with 11:7 marks.

Philadelphia Ukrainians and Elizabeth of New Jersey are tied for the runnerup spot with 12:6 points. In North Division II, Turkish leads with 16:2 points and the crack Clarkstown team is making a shambles of the South Division II race with 17:1 rating on 8 wins and a tie.

"The Major Division of the German-American League has offered several surprises this season as the fall competitions close this weekend," said league president Fitz Marth. Seven games are on the schedule.

Several standbys, including league champion Inter-Giuliana have put on impressive displays so far this season; while last year's runnerup and National Dewars Cup champion New York Freek-Americans have been suffering through the throes of defeat.

Heavy Sked for Marist Five

POUGHKEEPSIE
Appearances in a pair of holiday tournaments and 22 regular season contests are included in the 1974-75 basketball schedule for the Marist College Red Foxes, it was announced by Dr. Howard Goldman, athletic director.

Marist will launch its campaign Nov. 30 at Iona College, New Rochelle.

Eleven games are scheduled for Dutchess Community College's Falcon Hall. Home assignments are slated with King's (N.Y.), Yeshiva, Nyack, Stony Brook, New Paltz, Bloomfield, Dowling, Monmouth, Southampton, Albany State and Concordia. Concordia, along with King's, Bloomfield, Dowling, Nyack and Marist, make up the Central Atlantic College Conference. Marist will face all CACC members in a home and away series.

Marist, which slipped to a 9-16 record last year, will compete in the Geneseo and Kean Holiday Classics. The Geneseo event is in Geneseo, N.Y., Dec. 6-7, and the Kean tourney is in Newark, N.J., Dec. 16-17. Both will be four-team tournaments.

Coach Ron Petro welcomes back eight lettermen and has seven newcomers to his team. The returning group includes 6-5 senior Mike Hart, the scoring leader for two years, Joe Cirasella, a 6-3 two-year letterman, and 5-11 guards Al Fairhurst and Eric de Percin. Juniors Ray Murphy, Ron Glackin, Jim Dirscherl, Steve Sullivan and Dave Bean are the other returnees.

Paul Kane, a graduate of Rhinebeck High and twice the Freeman's high school Player-of-the-Year, and Walt Brickowski of Hastings head the group of rookies. Kane and Brickowski were both All State selections of the New York State Sportswriters Association.

Junior Cagers Organize

KINGSTON

Any boy desiring to play in the Junior League may do so, if he is between the age of 13 and 15 years. Any youngster born after Nov. 15, 1958, and before Nov. 15, 1961, is eligible to play in the league.

Registration for Biddy Basketball will be held Saturday, Nov. 23, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Dietz Stadium. Boys between the ages of 8 and 12 years may participate in the Biddy League. Any boy born after Nov. 15, 1961 and before Nov. 15, 1966, is eligible.

All boys registering will be notified of the days set aside for tryouts in both leagues.

Adults are needed to assist in the operation of both the Junior and Biddy Leagues. Any person interested in serving as coach or assistant coach is asked to contact Andy Murphy or call the Recreation Department office, 331-1682.

Raceway Sets New Opening

MONTICELLO
When Monticello Raceway opens for its 34-program winter meeting on Thanksgiving Night, the traditional and sumptuous turkey dinner served on the Ichabod Crane Terrace will be only a small part of the festivities.

While time rolls backwards for the traditional feast inside the grandstand, the hourglass will be doing the same thing trackside. Old fashioned, high wheeled sulkies, like those immortalized in countless Currier and Ives prints, will be in operational display on the racing oval.

Perched several feet above their customary level in present day sulkies, eight of the harness-racing world's best drivers will be handling the reins of the old high-wheelers which will be specially imported from Canada for the event.

It won't be a static demonstration. It will be capped off by a nonbetting race for the full mile distance.

Old time flavor will be present too with a concert by the Sullivan County Choraliers, the local chapter of the Barbershop Quartet Society.

The racing itself will be strictly modern. Post time 8 p.m. with a daily double, perfecta wagering in the 3rd, 5th and 7th races and a trifecta to close the ten race program.

Monticello will have day racing with a 2:30 p.m. post time on all the Sundays in December and Christmas Eve. The winter meet will close with a matinee program on Sunday, Jan. 5. The rest of the meet will get underway at 8 p.m. each night. The track will be closed on Mondays with the exception of December 23rd. That day it will be open to allow for the Yuletide closing on Christmas Day.

Other colorful events in store at the raceway are a "Good Old Times Night," College night and a Winter Sports Carnival.

Facts, Concerning Retirement and the Law

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Where there's a will there's a way for the person about to retire or already retired.

The need for a will is there, whether you are a millionaire or the only property is the shirt on your back. Even if you own nothing, you're an estate—in the form of your life, your health, your rights as a citizen.

The thought is grim, but just suppose you were hit by a truck and after several expensive weeks of hospitalization you die. Who is to pay the bills, take care of burial details, and who would you want to receive the considerable proceeds of a claim against the owner and operator of the truck?

The fact that every adult should make a will is brought out forcefully in a new publication from the National Retired Teachers Association American Association of Retired Persons NRTA-AARP.

The booklet is titled "Your Retirement Legal Guide" and although it is directed to the 21 million persons 65 years and up who are retired, its advice is just as applicable to any age.

"While most men recognize the need for a will, many women do not," it says. "Even if you depend entirely on your husband for support, you undoubtedly have property of your own. If you die without a will, the property may not go automatically to your husband. Your parents or children may very well be legally entitled to a share."

The guide advises that one should have a lawyer—no matter what the age.

Most people know next to nothing about their legal rights and responsibilities . . . it is terribly risky not to know what the law can do both for and to you. Finding a lawyer can be a challenge, however. The guide suggests one way is to find a satisfied client—"so talk to your family and friends". Or, consult the Lawyers Referral Service in your community.

Estate planning is another area covered—whether to establish trusts through banks to provide for wife or other relatives. "Estate planning is often regarded as chiefly a problem of the rich," says the publication.

"But . . . that simply isn't so. Even if your total assets amount to a modest sum in a savings account, you and your heirs will benefit from carefully figuring out just how it can be most economically and purposefully distributed."

"Your children, naturally would never start a family squabble over furniture" but the booklet cites an instance of a couple with three married sons to whom they left their entire estate, but completely ignored the division of personal effects.

"The sons didn't fight over who got what, but their wives did."

One of the most important steps is selection of an executor of your estate. A Anyone of legal age can serve.

But be advised a wholly responsible person should be chosen. It will be his or her duty to handle all legal and financial matters after your death.

600 Expected At Hospital Dinner

A crowd of more than 600 is expected at the Ellenville Community Hospital's 50th Anniversary Dinner Dance, it was announced by Arthur C. Chipp and Leo Rosick, co-chairmen of the fund raising event. The gala party will be held Sunday, Nov. 24 at 6:30 p.m. at the Homowack Lodge, Spring Glen, N.Y. Among the dignitaries scheduled to attend are Congressman-elect McHugh and Assemblyman-elect Hinchey.

Arrangements are being completed this week to make the event one of the most impressive in the history of the hospital. The hospital auxiliary which now has a membership of nearly 800 will be honored for the dedicated service of its membership over the years. Each woman attending the dinner-dance will receive a special gift as a token of appreciation for the role women have played from the inception of the hospital.

Last minute reservations may be made by contacting the dinner co-chairmen or Evald Bors-Koefoed, hospital administrator. Tickets may also be secured from Fran Blackwell, Connie Elman, Marcia Resnick, Marcia Sperling and Al Lipton, all volunteers serving with the dinner committee.

Install modern electric heat by Federal Pacific!

Here are the facts:

1. Electric utility rates have risen sharply and no one likes it!
2. What caused this rate hike? The recent dramatic rise in the price of oils which the utility uses to fuel its generator. The options for home heating are limited:

1. Gas and oil — the high prices (and going higher) culprits of our current fuel crisis

2. Electricity — which will soon be generated by coal and nuclear power at a fraction of its present cost.

Federal Pacific is STILL the best way to heat!

Dear Abby

'Unload the Bum'

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Here's my story: Career girl, age 44, marries man same age. First marriage for both. Girl owns beautiful home and earns twice as much as man.

On wedding night, husband watches old movies on TV until bride falls asleep. After one year, bride still a virgin!

Nobody would believe it, but it's true. He has absolutely no interest in me as a woman. But he must have an interest in sex because he never misses an X-rated movie. He can see the same one three times. Figure that one out!

I pay all the bills, including taxes, insurance, groceries and clothes for both of us. Trips, too. (We went to Europe in July.) He has a job but I never see a die of his money I even cut his hair, and when we go anywhere I drive because he's too "tired."

Today is our first wedding anniversary and he forgot it. I don't know what I ever saw in this man. He is a big nothing. My problem is I can't seem to bring myself to tell him that we don't have a marriage so he should clear out. Can you help me?

GUTLESS IN N.Y.
DEAR GUTLESS: If you are waiting for someone to say, "Unload the bum," I'll volunteer. And if he's still around when the snow flies, face it, you're either awfully lonesome or you desperately need to "do" for somebody.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this open letter to a nosy man: Today I got into an elevator in a large building where I work. An old man (in his 50's) was on the elevator when I got on.

He smiled at me and asked, "Is that red hair natural?" I was stunned. All I could think of to say was, "That's none of your business."

He replied, "I'm sorry. I was just trying to be friendly."

Abby, if a man wants to start a conversation with a total stranger, he should comment on the weather, local sports, or something less personal than whether a girl's hair color is natural.

Please tell men who want to be friendly in elevators to use some common sense.

UNFRIENDLY IN PHILLY
DEAR UN: Natural red-heads would have been pleased and answered yes. Dyed red-heads would have been annoyed. "Old men" who ask such questions can expect to lose some and win some. And some men "in their 50's" like to gamble.
DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter who was born on a Saturday and a son who was born on a Sunday. I seem to recall a poem about Monday's child, Tuesday's child and so on, but all I can remember is "Thursday's child has far to go" and I'm not even sure that's right.

I have asked everybody I know if they can recite the whole thing and nobody can. I even called the public library and was told unless I knew the name of the author they couldn't help me. Can You?

STUMPED
DEAR STUMPED: Yes! "Monday's child is fair of face, Tuesday's child is full of grace, Wednesday's child is full of woe, Thursday's child has far to go. Friday's child is loving and giving, Saturday's child has to work for a living. But a child that's born on the Sabbath Day is fair and wise and good and gay."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE QUIET ONE" IN K.C.: Don't ever feel that you must apologize for being quiet. Look at it this way: There's no point in talking unless you can improve the silence.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Telephone Pioneers

Telephone Pioneers of America visited the Ulster County Infirmary recently and gifted residents with 105 booties and lap robes. On hand for the presentation were, standing (l-r) Mrs. Dorothy Gunzelmann, director of nurses; Arthur DeWitt, Mrs. Edna Doughty and Miss Cecelia Smith, representatives of the Kingston area life member club. Accepting the gifts on behalf of the patients was, seated, Mrs. Emma Bowers. Telephone pioneers have consistently brightened days for children and adults alike with their on-going donation programs of handcrafted items. (Freeman photo)

Christmas Gala Planned by CDA

At the Nov. 14 meeting of Court Santa Maria No. 164, Catholic Daughters of America, which was held at Knights of Columbus hall, Mr. Martha O'Leary announced that the annual Christmas dinner and party will take place at Holiday Inn at 7 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 12.

Catherine Haines, regent, presided at the meeting. Trustee Margaret Mitchell read the semi-annual report on the Court's recent audit which showed a membership of 177 as of September 30.

Donations were made to the T. B. Christmas Seals and Rehabilitation Center for toys for the children at Christmas.

Refreshments were served by Dolores Grier and her committee: Helen Van Steenbergh and Alice Krom.

The Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Mullins, chaplain, celebrated Mass Saturday, Nov. 16 at St. Colman's Church in East Kingston for all deceased members of the Court. Donald Sangaline Jr. served as altar boy. Members enjoyed lunch at Judie's Restaurant after the Mass. The next business meeting will be held January 9, 1975.

Dr. Lamb Exercise helps Trim fat

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—In your column you advised a small lady to build some muscles. How do you do that? I am past 50, 5-foot-4 and only weigh 107, but have no stamina.

I exercise faithfully but it gets no easier. If an exercise says to start out with five times and build up to 100 times, six months later I am still only able to do about 20 and each one is just as hard to do as the first week that I did it. I have no weight problem but have had a protruding tummy all my life and no exercise does anything about reducing it.

DEAR READER—Your lack of stamina may be related to other factors besides the size of your muscles. Lots of small people are able to go and go, never seeming to tire.

There is a difference in repeating and repeating and exercise, which we call endurance exercises, and those that build muscles, which we call strength exercises. A long distance runner repeats the same movements over and over. A weight lifter may lift the weight only a few times, he rests, and at intervals in his training the amount of weight he lifts is gradually increased.

A muscle will only get large enough to lift the size of load it is asked to lift. If your arms are not used to lifting heavy objects, moving them rapidly will not develop large or strong muscles.

There are numerous ways to load a muscle to make it work harder and harder, thereby enlarging and gaining in strength. Weight lifting is one example.

Many people do get some benefit out of contracting opposing muscles, thesometric exercises. You can demonstrate this by holding your arm out, then tensing all the muscles in the arm so the arm and fist are rigid. Hold it a few seconds and relax the muscles. Repeat the exercise.

I prefer that these exercises be combined with muscle movement. You can do that by holding the arm fairly rigid and then, while the muscles are tense, moving the arm by bending the elbow and various movements. By moving the muscles while they are tense you put the stress on different muscle fibers and help to produce enlargement or increased strength in a more uniform way throughout the muscle.

You can use this same principle for almost any muscle in the body. You can do it with your legs and thighs. The combination of contracting and moving the muscles is a combination of what exercise specialists call isotonic and isometric exercises. The isotonic exercises are those that involve movement.

You can do voluntary muscle contractions of the abdominal muscles, including the lower abdominal muscles, while lying down, sitting or standing. You can also do leg lifts for that lower abdomen. Finally, don't forget posture. A lot of people would not have as much problem with the abdomen if they would just learn to hold their chests up and not compress the abdomen. With the chest and shoulders up, rather than slouched, and a conscious effort to hold the stomach muscles in, the problem is not so marked in many instances.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on losing weight, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for the "Losing Weight" booklet.

TODAY'S TREASURES

Soup tureens far from dull

By Jean Barnes

Soup is the standby of the household executive confronted with last minute guests of a "too-busy" day. Yet that simple bowl of soup has inspired many of the world's finest artists and craftsmen for more than three centuries.

A visit to the Campbell Museum at Camden, N.J., will attest to this. This unique museum was founded in 1966 and its collection consists of objects pertaining to the service of soup and its equipage.

There has been no special effort made to preserve these symbols of elegant dining and many of the early ones have been lost through breakage or scattered throughout the world. Recognizing this need, the Campbell Soup Company set about to assemble and house a collection of tureens which would include the finest examples available.

The 18th century is unmatched in history for its elegant formal dining and it was during this period that the tureen became an important part of the dinner service.

The word "tureen" probably derives from the Latin word "terrinus" meaning earthen and can refer to either the large covered vessel from which soup is served or smaller bowls which contain sauces or gravy.

Assembling this unique collection was often difficult. Because of their historical significance or artistic merit, many are considered "national treasures" and are not allowed to leave the country of their origin. Thus, it became necessary to locate similar outstanding examples by scouting countries other than the one of origin.

In describing the collection for you, it is possible to use a wide variety of adjectives. It seems best to quote from the museum catalogue, which states, "No other part of the dinner service has lent itself to the unusual and bizarre in form and design as have tureens. They run the gamut from ship to fish, fowl to animals, vegetables and fruits to flowers and often a combination of several. They may not all be appetizing and they may not all be objects of beauty but they are often surprising—if not startling—and certainly not dull."

In the next column, I will discuss ways in which you can use tureens for your holiday table. Whether you have an old tureen or have explored the realm of the new ones now on the market, you will find that the soup tureen adds an elegant focal point to both family and festive dining.

The Collarmen from Mt. St. Alphonsus in Esopus will give a benefit performance Friday at 7:30 p.m. at J. Watson Bailey Junior High School in Kingston. The program, which is being sponsored by the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, promises to appeal to both children and adults. Tickets will be available at Abram's Music Store, Wall Street; Schechter's Market, North Front Street, Kingston; BeeVer House, Main Street, Saugerties, as well as at the door. Proceeds will be used to improve programs for teaching children with learning problems. Public is invited.

Dear Heloise:

I am a bachelor. I am glad that you welcome them into this column. Guess both sexes can help each other.

Of course, in my bachelorhood I get invited to many lovely dinners that families cook.

One woman in particular is fantastic when it comes to food. At dinner the other night she had cut oranges in half and reamed them out on her juicer.

The hull was then filled with homemade MASHED sweet potatoes. She had topped each little filled goodie with miniature marshmallows and baked them until they had melted and were slightly brown.

You talk about something different! And sensational? That just was.

I was thinking that this would be something to tell your readers. Specially the bachelors who must return invitations once in a while.

They can buy canned mashed potatoes, add a dab of brown sugar and mix, fill the orange hull and it doesn't take any effort to lay the tiny marshmallows on top and pop them in the oven at the last minute just before the steaks are done.

When You Invite A Bachelor to Dinner

Sure beats that proverbial old baked potato . . . What do you think?

Mike C.

I think you are just great to pass this on, sir. And do give our thanks to the wife who had you to dinner as I am sure she did the cooking . . .

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To add closet space for children's clothes, skirts or blouses, I cut the handle off an old broom.

Two holes were drilled about two inches from each end. I put wire through the holes in the broom handle and made a secure knot. After determining the proper height I wanted the new clothes bar, I wrapped the wire around the permanent clothes bar. This makes another clothes rack in the same closet and it's at eye-level for the children.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Sure gives us lots of extra space.

Mrs. Sue Abraham

Dear Heloise:

My mother keeps her cooking oil in a cleaned squeeze-bottle that dish-washing liquid came in.

It's much easier than trying to twist off a cap with messy hands and the squeeze bottle takes less shelf space than most oil bottles!

Carol Bruce

Dear Heloise:

I wonder how many people know they do not have to throw away their vaporizers when they get lined up?

One cup of vinegar in the water will dissolve the lime and it doesn't hurt your vaporizer, in fact, it helps it to work better.

A little vinegar added from time to time helps and keeps it sending out steam like it's supposed to. I've used my vaporizer eight years and it's still as good as ever.

Alma H. Thompson

Here's our ever lovin' vinegar, to the rescue again.

Heloise

Redecorate With Light

CHICAGO, ILL.

Fall's brisk and shortened days and lengthened evenings rekindle everyone's interest in at-home entertaining—and redecorating to enhance the setting. But redecorating poses a real challenge to today's strained budgets.

Many budget-watchers find they can transform a room dramatically, at a relatively modest cost, with new lighting alone. Planned lighting can intensify colors and textures of fabrics, enhance furnishings, and "expand" a room by brightening dim corners, explains the American Home Lighting Institute (AHLI).

Relighting creates a warmly livable environment for family and guests. And the exciting new designs provide decorative appeal—as much "hanging sculpture" as light source.

As the nation's Bicentennial approaches, lighting as well as other home furnishings responds to a growing interest in American—the gleaming brass and copper styles of the Revolutionary Era, burnished woods and copper from Frontier Days, and the opalescent spheres of the "gaslit" Mauve Decade.

Fixtures of all sizes, fashioned in gleaming pewter, burnished brass and woods, reflect the gracious stylings of old Philadelphia, Charleston, and Williamsburg. Whether in multi-tiered chandeliers, wall lanterns, or pendants, these elegant beauties will add grace to entries, dining rooms or a living room setting.

Newly simplified crystal fixtures provide both elegance of line and shimmer. Chandeliers and pendants are now fashioned of mirrored chrome as well as gold, and glitter with prisms in spheres and snowflakes as well as traditional diamond shapes.

And crystal quality now varies from the diamond-brilliant Strass crystal to cut crystal and crystal glass—suitable for every area of the home, from the exquisite dining room chandelier to delicate bathroom sconces, and suitable for different budgets.

The airy cleanliness of "space-age" decors are complemented by the striking new "satellite" fixtures—sculptures of clear or smoked-glass globes gleaming on chrome or copper arms.

Versatile track lighting, mounted on ceiling or wall, can give a visual life to almost any room.

Fixtures place light where it is needed, without taking up floor space.

Matching fixtures styles and designs to individual tastes, needs and budget is simplified with help of trained lighting specialists, such as those at AHLI "Light for Living Center" member showrooms.

Locally such consultation for any room of the home or outside is available at Kingston City Electric Supply Co., 21 Grand Street.

Lighting consultants help families find new individuality in redecorating.

72,277 Eligible In County, Only 57,630 Persons Voted

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County voters not only stayed away from the polls in droves last Nov. 5, but final election figures indicate that many of those who went into the voting booth failed, in many, cases to pull any lever at all in certain races with many, many cases a resultant huge amount of blank votes.

Of the 72,277 persons registered to vote, only 57,630 cast votes for governor and 2,578 persons who went into the voting booth failed to pull the lever in that race.

Many blank votes were recorded in other state races as well with 7,026 failing to vote for comptroller; 3,998 blanks for Associate Justice of the Court of Appeals.

In the contest for governor, Republican incumbent Malcolm Wilson received 24,863 on the GOP line and 2,833 as the Conservative's candidate. The winner, Democratic candidate Hugh Carey polled 25,191 as a Democrat and 1,541 as a Liberal.

The comptroller's race, which went to the Democratic incumbent Arthur Levitt, saw the Democrats give him 29,851, the Liberals, 1,593 and his GOP opponent Stephen May received 16,072 votes.

Another incumbent, Republican Louis J. Lefkowitz polled 30,554 plus 1,881 liberal votes for attorney general while his Democratic opponent Robert Abrams garnered 18,277.

In the Court of Appeals race, Democrats Lawrence H. Cooke and Jacob Fuchsberg tallied 29,364 and 23,005 votes respectively and were declared the winners out of a field of five major candidates. Harold Stevens, a Republican ran third with 20,512 votes.

Incumbent U.S. Sen. Jacob Javits, who won statewide, also captured the plurality here with 21,987 GOP votes and 1,169 on the Conservative line with Ramsey Clark, the Democrat, trailing with 18,563 and Conservative Barbara Keating, 12,135. There were 3,197 blank votes.

In the 25th Congressional District race where 27,546 persons were registered to vote, there were 2,043 blanks. Incumbent Republican Hamilton Fish Jr. received 14,718 GOP votes and 2,185 Conservative ballots. Democrat Nicholas B. Angell gleaned 8,427 and Free Libertarian Sanford Cohen received 154 votes.

In the 26th Congressional race with a total of 6,309 registered to vote, there were but 459 blanks. Incumbent Republican Benjamin A. Gilman received 3,497 votes to former Democratic Congressman John G. Dow's 2,002 on the Democratic line and 104 as a Liberal contender. Conservative Thomas Moore received 246 votes.

The 27th Congressional District saw Democrat Matthew McHugh emerge victorious with 10,513 Democratic ballots and 756 on the Liberal line. GOP contender Alfred J. Libous received 7,568 and Conservative Franklin B. Resseguie polled 1,588. Of the 23,775 persons voting in the district, 3,345 failed to cast a ballot in this race.

With 27,305 voters going to the polls in the 40th State Senatorial District, 3,009 left blanks in the race which saw incumbent Republican Richard E. Schermerhorn receive 15,595 votes as a GOP candidate and 1,831 on the Conservative line. Democrat King James Weyant received 9,070 and Liberal Paul Atkinson, 772.

In the 48th State Senatorial District, 30,325 went to the polls but 4,743 blanks showed up on the voting machines. Incumbent Sen. Edwyn E. Mason received 12,386 on the GOP line and 2,201 as a Conservative while Democratic contender Alex J. Nirenberg tallied 10,978.

The Assembly race in the 99th District where 7,629 persons went to the polls saw incumbent Republican Emeel Betros poll 3,517 votes on the GOP line and 497 on the Conservative ballot.

The Democratic contender Philip Magnarella received 2,816 votes on his party line and 143 on the Liberal ballot. Free Libertarian Guy Riggs received 29. There were 624 blanks.

In the 101st Assembly District, 50,001 persons went to the polls but 3,081 failed to cast their ballot in the race in which Democrat Maurice Hinchey Polled 23,152 votes on his party line as well as 1,496 on the Liberal line. Incumbent Republican Clark Bell received 19,375 as a Republican and 2,897 as a Conservative.

A Democrat was also victorious in the race for Justice of the Supreme Court in which 57,630 persons went to the polls in the Third Judicial District. William R. Murray won with 21,225 Democratic votes and 3,505 Conservative votes to Ellis J. Staley's 21,517 GOP votes and 1,497 Liberal votes. There were 9,870 blanks.

LOSS: (Comment) I want to say something to the guy who lost his girl in a car accident.

I too lost my boyfriend, not in the same way, but through suicide.

You must live one day at a time. It's hard, I know, for it has been only three months.

If you find it too much to bear sometimes, look to the man upstairs. He is there waiting to help you.—A Friend in South Carolina.

(A) Thank you. Finding others that you can help will also help you.

PERSONAL: (Q.) If someone had a personal problem and wrote to you about it and asked you if you wouldn't put it in your column, would you honor their request?—Wondering in Pennsylvania.

(A.) All the letters I get from Teen Forum readers are about personal problems. Very few who write want their names or addresses printed or to be identified in some other way. I honor this wish faithfully.

I never print a writer's name or street address or town or city name unless the writer clearly indicates that he wants me to.

If the writer uses his own name or the names of others, these names are either not used or they are changed so that they won't be identifiable. If a letter has a detail that would in any way identify a specific person or persons, the detail is cut out.

No one need ever fear that he or she will be exposed or embarrassed by writing to me—no matter how personal the problem.

And, although I can't send personal answers, I am personally interested and concerned with every teenager who writes to me.

(Write to Jean Adams, care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Every letter is read, but because of the great number received Jean Adams cannot send personal answers.)

can play and do his part to make the game a success.

The Foundation expects to contribute at least $100,000 to the American Cancer Society, the designated charity for 1974.

Today's hand was played in the spring game. At most tables North and South would play the hand at a part score spade contract. If the defense cashed in three tricks as a starter they would get a very good score since once declarer gains the lead he will rattle off 11 tricks.

A few North-South pairs reached game—usually on the bidding shown in the box.

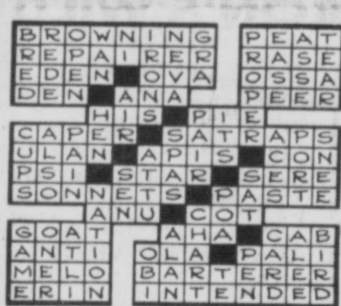

East could blame himself for the bad score. No one twisted his arm to get that three diamond bid out of him. Had he just passed, there is little chance that South would have found a three-spade bid. He really only bid it because everyone was bidding and it was his turn. Even then, we doubt if those North players who continued to four spades did so with much enthusiasm. They also were just bidding along.

At Least 97 Killed In Crash of Boeing 747 Jumbo Jet

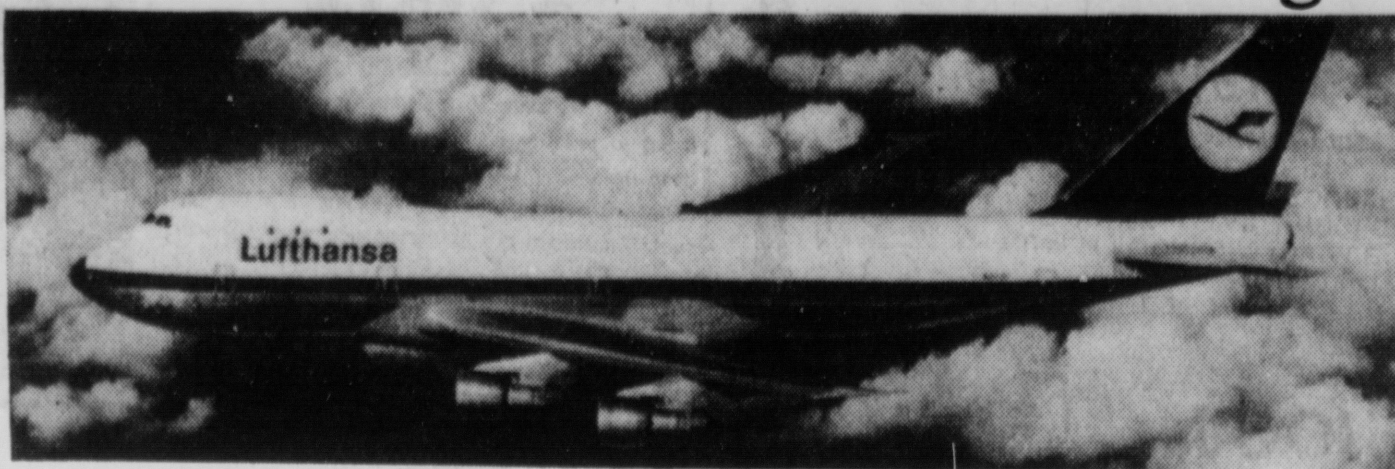

NAIROBI (UPI) — A Lufthansa Boeing 747 jumbo jet faltered seconds after liftoff from a Nairobi Airport on a bright and windless day today and exploded into flames in a field a mile from the end of the runway. Nearly 100 persons were killed.

It was the first crash of a Boeing 747 in the five years the plane has been in service.

Exact casualty figures were still not known, but airline officials said at least 97 persons of the 157 on board were killed, many burned beyond recognition. The officials said between 50 and 60 passengers were pulled alive from the wreckage.

Most of the victims were West Germans. There were no reports any Americans were aboard.

The blue, yellow and silver jet bound for Johannesburg splintered on impact at somewhere around 190 miles an hour, and great hunks of flaming debris flew over the airport and neighboring fields.

BOEING 747 . . . THE FIRST CRASH (UPI)

Metal and plastic seats were flung over acres of land just beyond Embakasi Airport. The plane burned fiercely and kept rescue teams and emergency squads at bay for the first crucial minutes.

The plane appeared to lose power just after leaving the ground, witnesses reported. The five-story tall tail broke off with a great splintering crash and then the entire jet disintegrated in a blinding and thunderous flash.

Witnesses said the 350-seat airliner apparently lost power just after liftoff, never gained sufficient altitude and crashed a mile from the end of the runway.

It burst into fire and flaming pieces of the huge airliner were scattered over a wide area around the airport.

"There were bodies strewn everywhere," said Sam Ouma of the Daily Nation Newspaper. "Firemen and ambulance attendants were everywhere."

At Lufthansa headquarters in Frankfurt, a spokesman said 15 of the survivors were crew members.

Horst Hakbat, a Capetown electrician, said he got out of the aircraft on his fourth try.

"I saw about 60 people had also got out," he said. "I started walking away and was 100 yards away when there was a sound like a bomb exploding."

Most of the 139 passengers and 18 crew members on flight 340 were West Germans, the airline spokesman said. The plane was bound for Johannesburg.

Scores of fire trucks and ambulances roared to the scene and the local blood bank issued an emergency call for donors.

Lufthansa officials said they were trying to determine the exact number of casualties but many of the bodies were hurled far from the airplane. Officials said they did not expect a final figure before nightfall.

A Boy Reached For His Father, But . . .

BEIT SHEAN, Israel (UPI) — The night exploded in grenades and gunfire and the teen-aged boy reached for his father. But Yehuda Bebas lay dead in the shabby apartment.

Fifteen-year-old Asher ran through the house and saw three Arab commandos open fire with machine guns. His mother, Zohara, fell bleeding to the floor.

A neighbor down the hall, Mazaro Derri, a 40-year-old mother of three children, rushed to the apartment to help. The guerrillas shot her to death.

In a desperate lunge, Asher hurled himself from the second story window.

"I saw a lot of blood," he said softly from his hospital bed in the nearby town of Afula. "I saw my mother dying."

The Bebas' apartment, No. 8, was the target of an Arab attack Tuesday. Three commandos blasted their way into a three-story building in Beit Shean. Eight persons died in the raid, 23 were wounded.

Asher was brought in shock to the small hospital in Afula. In a soft, broken voice he says today he tried to help his parents fend off the guerrillas.

But doctors, worried over his condition, tried to convince him that his parents are safe. Asher twists the blankets and says softly over and over, "I saw my mother dying. I saw my mother dying."

After Israeli troops stormed the building and killed the guerrillas, enraged residents of the town grabbed the bodies of the Arabs and stabbed them with sticks, kicked them, poured gasoline over them and set them on fire.

Among the bodies burned was that of Yehuda Bebas. He was mistaken for a guerrilla.

There is not much left of the Bebas apartment. Bullet holes riddle every wall and every ceiling. The front door was blown off its hinges.

In the living room, two bullet holes puncture the television screen. One end of a walnut bookcase sags.

A cheap plastic doll lies with its head broken on the floor near the couch. Glass from a shattered partition crunches underfoot.

Bullets ripped apart half the kitchen sink and broke a water pipe. Water mixes with blood on the floor. Blood splatters the bedding and clothes in the bedrooms.

'It Wasn't Right' . . .

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The son of a Filipino gunman who held his country's ambassador and an aide hostage in Washington, D.C., said Tuesday night that his father's actions were wrong and unwarranted.

"I don't know what's the reason that he did it—for me it's not right," Napoleon Lechoco Jr., 16, said upon his arrival at San Francisco International Airport, en route to Washington from the Philippines.

His father was arrested Monday after Ambassador Eduardo Z. Romualdez and attache Mario S. Lagdameo were freed. Lagdameo was wounded by Lechoco, authorities said. The father had demanded that his son be allowed to emigrate to the United States.

The 5-foot-8, 140-pound teenager told reporters that he had filed for his U.S. visa three months ago and had expected to leave the Philippines soon.

Lechoco, whose six brothers and sisters were already in the United States with their parents, said he had been staying with his grandparents and had planned to leave as soon as arrangements had been completed with them.

"I wasn't detained," the youth said. "Yes, I was hoping to join my family, and I came (to the United States) of my own free will."

Lechoco, carrying a large wooden crucifix wrapped in brown paper, was escorted by Col. Frederico Navarro, chief of staff of the Philippine presidential guard battalion.

Navarro said the teen-ager was "very innocent about this. He doesn't know a damn thing about it. We have to inform him." He also denied that Lechoco had been detained in his homeland because of politics.

"His papers were already prepared," the officer said.

"He was ready to leave."

Asked how he was informed of his father's action, the youth said, "They (the authorities) sat me down in a chair and said, 'Your father would like to talk to you.' Then I understood that my father was in trouble."

After a brief stopover here, Lechoco flew on to Washington.
